An Introduction to

BURGUNDY

In 1512 A.D. Louis XII of France decided to send a sumptuous and regal present to King James IV of Scotland. It is scarcely surprising that he chose to present his Scots Majesty with puncheons of delicious Wine from the province of old Burgundy, thus introducing the famous Burgundian blood of the Grape into the British Isles for the first time. Since that occasion the vintages of Burgundy have gained a reputation for themselves second to none throughout the civilised world.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SHANGHAI'S LEPERS

Little Need for Fear

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—The letter of LEPROPHOBIA in the "North-China Daily News" of January 23 speaks of a problem that does actually confront us. What he says is true, there are more lepers on the streets now than formerly and I know the Municipal authorities are doing their best to cope with the problem.

LEPROPHOBIA must remember that the influx of lepers in the Concession is also one of the results of the war. There are large leper areas in Kiangsu north of the Yangtsze and in Shantung, and lepers from both of these areas are pressed by war conditions to migrate. With the refugees also lepers have entered Shanghai.

LEPROPHOBIA is right that some lepers in the advanced stage of the disease are apt to frighten people. From an aesthetic viewpoint lepers do become a menace on the streets and they should be urged to keep themselves in seclusion.

However, I am sure that the public need not be too much worried about contracting the disease. The danger of contracting leprosy from seeing some of these of our unfortunate fellowmen is nil. Only close control over a prolonged time and that only under certain conditions is necessary to contract the disease. I have personally treated leprosy for many years and have handled hundreds of cases and I can speak for my fellow practitioners who treat this disease that too much fear of leprosy is based upon unsound principle. If people would be as afraid of sexual diseases as they are of leprosy these diseases would soon be under control.

However, LEPROPHOBIA has done well to call attention to this matter. I am glad to tell LEPROPHOBIA that the Chinese Mission to Lepers is cooperating with the Municipal health authorities of both the International and the French Concession and the various Refugee Camps to segregate the lepers. The health authorities of both Municipal Councils are constantly on the outlook to direct lepers to the leprosarium maintained by the Chinese Mission to Lepers.

With the stream of Chinese refugees daily coming in from north of the river areas one must expect to see an occasional leper now and then on the streets. It is only surprising that one sees no more and the Muncipal authorities may be congratulated by the control they have been able to carry on over this prevalent disease in these days of overcrowding and refugee problems.

Furthermore, the Chinese Mission to Lepers, with offices at 41 Tsze Pang Road, should have our full support in order that it may cope adequately with this problem. We understand their leprosarium is open for inspection to visitors. A visit will show the good care these people are getting. Dr. Reiss, professor of Skin Diseases at the National Medical College, a well-known skin specialist of Shanghai, is on the staff of the leprosarium and Dr. Lee S. Huizenga, the well-known leprologist who is in Shanghai, is devoting full time to this work as a volunteer.

LEPROPHOBIA can be assured that all is done to cope with the problem and any cases he and others can report to the authorities can be taken care of provided the public by its contributions provides the leprosarium with funds, upon which it is dependent in its charity work.

REFUGEE HOSPITAL

Sheets Badly Wanted

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—May I beg the hospitality of your columns in bringing forward the needs of the Hospital carried on at the Refugee Camp in the buildings of Chiao-Tung University.

We are deeply grateful to the friends who have already helped us in many ways, but just at the present time we are in pressing need of bed sheets.

We have still one ward in which the patients are brought in and put on to the mattresses without any sheets, and when one realizes that many of these patients, owing to malnutrition, are suffering from dysentery and diarrhoea, the lack of sheets will be seen to be a serious problem.

If any of your readers wish to know of a practical way in which to help refugees at the present time, here is one way I would commend to them. Let them send sheets, any morning or afternoon, to Dr. Chiang, Superintendent of Refugee Hospital Chiao-Tung University, Avenue Haig, where they will be most gratefully received.

Until further sheets are provided it is impossible to proceed with the cleaning up of the ward now in progress.

KINGDOM OF GOD

A Challenge to Debate

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—When I read DOUAY's pathetic letter in to-day's issue of your esteemed journal I lifted up my voice and wept! Verily, his mournful efforts in attempting to prove that I was self-contradictory in my letter of January 26 make sad reading.

Controlling my emotions for the moment, may I be allowed to ask DOUAY where, in my letter, did I "seek to prove that the Kingdom of Christ is not material (not material, therefore spiritual)."

When I spoke of the descent of the Holy Spirit on the first Day of Pentecost I referred to the Church, not to the Kingdom. To confound these two eternal verities speaks of spiritual strabism or mental myopia, and at such instances we burst into tears.

Let me define my terms: when I, and other Bible students, speak of the Church we mean the spiritual Body of Christ: "Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, through sanctification of the Spirit, unto obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ.... begotten again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven." (I Peter: i-2, 3, 4). This Body, according to the Bible, is specifically chosen by God, and no earthly religious organization has anything to do with the choice.

When Bible students speak of the Kingdom of Christ they, according to the Scriptures, speak of a literal Kingdom (not spiritual, therefore material). In this Kingdom, which Christ will in due time set up, all the promises God made to Israel and Judah will be literally fulfilled. Bible texts declaring these glorious facts are too numerous to quote.

Space forbids my saying more: I shall not answer any refutation of the above facts as I do not wish to abuse the privileges of these columns and give rise to a series of religious arguments—which are interminable. If DOUAY is not satisfied, and I know he is not, I challenge him to a public or private debate on the above two questions, using the plain pronouncements of the Bible as the final authority.

BIBLE STUDENT

Shanghai, Jan. 28.

COMMUNISM

Enemy of Christendom

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—We Europeans all know Communism and feel the danger of it. We see Japan entering China with armies of several 100,000 men claiming to fight Communism. In reality Japan is killing 50,000 to 100,000 civilians: men, women and children by throwing bombs on open cities. This is Communism, a crime shouting to Heaven for vengeance. Our Christian God's "mills grind slowly, but they grind thoroughly." So beware Japan! These crimes of plain aggression and robbery of country is driving China into the very arms of the Soviets, exactly what we Europeans want to prevent. Is it possible that we don't see this? Or can we not prevent it? If we called Japan's bluff,—because bluffing it is,—we would hold China away from the Soviets. China asks us to help her, thus proving that she wants to pact with us and not with the Soviets. Don't we see this? Are we blind or cowards?

A friend writes me from North China: An army of 40,000 to 60,000 Communists have devastated North China here. He also says Chiang Kai-shek succeeded in fighting them down. So they are not there anymore.

China has always been cheated and ransacked by Japanese tradesmen since 100 years back. Every China-hand knows these truths. The plain and simple outcome of this is that the Chinese hate the Japanese and will not trade with them.

Will the "feudal" military class of Japan force the Chinese to be friends by killing 100,000 Chinese or more, burning and murdering? I don't see the point. Can Japan put over a Versailles-Treaty on China with effect? That game has proved a boomerang in Europe.

Let us Europeans unite against the arch-enemy, Communism, and not allow China to be driven through desperation into the hands of the Soviets. If we don't do this it will come back to us in Europe. China will become communistic and will become a further Soviet stronghold. Just what we need to prevent. Japan on the other side is not a friend to anybody and especially not to Christian nations and races.

Dramatic Troupe's Fine Work

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—The Yee Foong Dramatic Troupe, under the direction of Mr. S. F. Chow, gave two Charity performances at the Carlton Theatre on the evenings of January 12 and 14. The entire proceeds from the sale of tickets have been remitted, without any deduction for expenses, to my Committee for the relief work among refugees in the "Jacquinot" Zone in Nantao. The sum thus realized is $7,109.60 which has been handed to the undersigned through Mrs. S. F. Chow.

Father Jacquinot and my Committee would like to take this opportunity of expressing their thanks to the members of the Yee Foong Dramatic Troupe, the management of the Carlton Theatre, and the numerous friends who have helped in the matter of selling tickets and meeting the general expenses in connection with the performances.

DOMESTIC BONDS

Payment in Wei-Wah

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—That the Chinese Government will pay interest on Domestic Bonds, as reported in your issue of January 27, is interesting.

Not being conversant with "Wei-Wah" notes, will you kindly give enlightenment as to what they are exactly, also as to their actual worth compared with Chinese dollars, U.S. dollars, Pounds Sterling and Yen.

ANXIOUS AND CURIOUS.

ROULETTE

Club's Invitation Night

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—I have received an invitation from a small local club to attend two invitation nights at which roulette and other gambilng games will be played openly.

How is it possible for the Settlement Police to sanction such parties when a few Chinese playing some of their card games are liable to be arrested and prosecuted for gambling? Is there not a serious inconsistency somewhere?

FAIR DOES.

Bund Gardens Still Closed

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—After incessant pleas for the re-opening of the Bund Gardens, one is rewarded with the statement that that the shell-holes in Quinsan Square have been filled in, and all ready for foreign ladies and children to gambol in the greensward. I can visualize thousands of people crossing the Garden Bridge to visit this Mecca of salubrity.

One of London's oldest historic hotels-the Arundel, which faces the Thames from the foot of Arundel-street, Strand-will be closed shortly, and will be converted into offices. As Arundel House, town residence of the Earls of Arundel, it was visited by Charles I, Pepys and William Penn. More than 200 years ago it became an hotel, and was one of the London inns of which Dickens wrote.

SOLUTION OF LONDON PUZZLE No. 1426

Sixty Years Ago

FROM THE "NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS" OF JANUARY 29, 1878

From Canton:—The price of rice in Canton has been eased somewhat by recent arrivals, and the imposition of likin on this staple of food has been dispensed with for a year. This gives great encouragement to importers, who are buying up rice at all available marts. The distress in the inundated district of Tsingyuen is still very great and the provincial Government is doing all it can to relieve the sufferer. In view of the approach of the Chinese New Year, robberies are rampant in the City of Rams, and reports of such occurences are received from all quarters of the city. An attempt at incendiarism was discovered on the night of the 16th instant, in an empty shop in the western suburb, luckily in time to prevent mischief.

Witness at Tottenham: When the car was stationary the speedometer stood at 42 miles an hour, and when the defendant tapped it, the needle showed 12 miles an hour. The speedometer was not working properly.

The Magistrate: So it seems!

How would you describe the FLAVOUR of GOOD Whisky?

—said Johnnie Walker

Because good whisky, such as Johnnie Walker, is really a blend of flavours, it is very difficult to find one word to describe it. The blenders have various names for the special characteristics of the separate whiskies used in the blend—"robust," "delicate," "malty," and so on. Some are chosen for a faint peatiness, some for their "full" flavour—but all combine in perfect harmony or "roundness." The result can only be described as the distinctive flavour of Johnnie Walker—one that you will appreciate as the flavour of Scotch Whisky at its very best. Always ask for Johnnie Walker by name.

IMPARTIAL NOT NEUTRAL

A FRAIL REED

Britain has reaffirmed her unshaken faith in the aims and ideals of the League of Nations and by doing so has vindicated the belief that she is still devoted to the maintenance of that peace which has animated her policies ever since the termination of the Great War. Much has been made of the contention that the Covenant of the League and the League itself have been reduced to mere machines for the implification of the Treaty of Versailles, and, from some points of view, there is some justification for it. It arises rather from occasional mistakes, and the nearness in time of the two, rather than because of any set design, though this does not remove the objections which Germany in particular has been clamant in raising. If on occasion France has looked to the Covenant of the League for the furtherance of the objects of the Treaty of Versailles, it cannot be said that all the other nations adhering to it are imbued with the same idea. Great Britain is most certainly not, though her very real and deep friendship with France, and the full realization of French hopes and fears, may in some eyes tend to discount that fact. Probably, if the Treaty of Versailles could be rewritten with all the knowledge that the last twenty years have brought to the world, it would be a very different document. On the other hand it might not, for, from all that is seen going on in the world, the lamentable conclusion, that mankind fails to learn from past experience, seems to be the only possible one. Old mistakes are being repeated, old hatreds intensified, ancient expedients being resorted to and as a result the high purpose with which the League was created is being continually thwarted and its effectiveness considerably reduced. With the failure of the United States to adhere to the Covenant commenced the dry rot which has become so apparent in more recent years. There was about the League not the unanimity which would have been the best guarantee for its future, for though there was in those days an immense enthusiasm for peace, there cannot be the slightest doubt that in the minds of some governments it was to provide a period of recuperation until the time to commence again on the realization of old policies which for the time being the War had prevented.

When the consistency with which Japan has followed her policy in the Far East, conceived nearly forty years ago, when it is remembered how she was with the League until it was found that that body resented the continuance of that policy, and eventually left it, it is apparent that she should never have been a member, and that her adherence was for the purpose of lulling the anxieties which she had aroused during the War. Germany and Italy are in somewhat different cases. Until the arising of the dictatorships they may both have been said to have desired peace. They may do so still, but it is feared that only for so long as it takes them to prepare for the struggle in which they hope to achieve their ends. That the League has failed in the solution of some of the problems with which it was been confronted is no fault of the ideals and motives underlying the Covenant, but because of the extravagant ambitions of a few nations who reckless of consequences are determined to do their utmost to attain their ends. It was in the midst of such a state of affairs that Mr. Anthony Eden made his speech at Geneva on Thursday. The defection of some of its more important members has had the effect of restricting the area of its co-operation, and its ability to fulfil all functions originally contemplated has thereby been reduced. Nevertheless, the British Government do not think it inappropriate when they have to acknowledge repudiation in some quarters of the League, to declare that their faith in the aims and ideals that inspire it remain unshaken. What are they? They are the promotion of international co-operation and the achievement of international peace and security on the basis of respect for international treaties. Such principles should not be difficult of acceptance by any nation in the world. They would not be if military and imperialistic ambitions did not dominate those who have seceded from the League, for the League did not stand for territorial aggrandisement by the force of arms, nor the solution of economic problems by the rifle and the sword. It is because of these facts that its efficiency has been considerably reduced.

There is still much that the League can do, even if in the major matters it cannot. Much excellent work has been done, and there is no reason to believe that more cannot be achieved. It is to be hoped that, by a policy avoiding sterile, embittering controversy and the striving towards appeasement, it will be possible to find peace through co-operation. When that day comes it may be that the world will unite in finding better methods, in adapting, and modifying the League's procedure. For that reason it is necessary that the League shall continue. To abandon it would be the confession of probably the biggest failure in human history. To retain it may yet prove the foundation of the better things which it is hoped are to come. But subscription to these ideas must not blind the world to the fact that the danger of another world war is such that no reasonable man should refuse to accept the urgent need for preparation against it. In the absence of a spirit insisting upon the sanctity of treaties there is no protection for any nation save the armament which is now proceeding. Weakness from now on will merely invite disaster at the hands of those nations whose secession from the League is adequate warning that, unless what they want is given to them peaceably, they will endeavour to take. Fortunately the balance of power is still in the hands of those remaining loyal to the League, and there may still be very much hesitation before any of the seceding nations will embark upon such action against them which their preparations seem to foreshadow. Member nations are still so powerful that in the event of a world war they would probably still win, or, if not, effect such a resistance that the world would ultimately be reduced to the chaos naturally to be expected as the result of the collapse of a civilization. The League may at the moment be a very frail reed, but it is a reed, nevertheless.

POSTAL RUPTURE

In the absence of official information, there was no means yesterday of gauging the effect of the rupture of postal relations between Russia and Japan upon the foreigner living in the Far East. The rupture was described by the Tass news agency as affecting postal parcels only. While it will prevent the delivery of parcels posted in the Soviet Union and already in transit, it will not interfere with those posted in other countries and now in transit across Russia. Much trans-Siberian mail comes to Shanghai from Vladivostok, and this route will not be broken, so far as could be learned. But mails coming through Manchoukuo, via Dairen, will cease unless they are switched to the longer route. The cause of the dispute dates back to December 19 when a Russian plane lost its way over Manchurian territory and was forced down. The two pilots were arrested, the plane seized, and the mail matter it was carrying was confiscated. Protests and demands by the Soviet authorities for the release of the plane, crew, and mail have hitherto met with no results, and this drastic rupture of relations is the consequence. The action of the Manchurian and Japanese authorities in detaining the plane seems in the circumstances a little harsh; and it can only be supposed that it was the sequel of other incidents which, owing to the paucity of news from Soviet Russia and Manchoukuo due to official reticence, have never been reported. It is to be hoped, however, that the dispute will soon be cleared up and that the inconvenience feared for residents in this part of the world will not materialize.

ANOTHER PROTEST

The further protest by the United States Government concerning incidents in Nanking, involving an assault on Mr. John B. Allison, in charge of the U.S. Embassy there, and the terms in which it is reported to have been couched will do nothing to ease the tension which for a time was allayed by the manner in which the Japanese Government responded to the representations made in connection with the U.S.S. Panay. Mr. Allison undoubtedly did report to Washington what has been going on in the Chinese capital and it is possible that this aroused some resentment. But it has to be pointed out that he was merely doing his duty. If Chinese women, seeking refuge in American owned buildings in Nanking have been taken out by force by Japanese—and there is ample evidence of it—then it was undoubtedly Mr. Allison's duty to report it to his government. He would have been derelict had he failed to do so. If in the particular investigation in connection with which this latest incident arose, he did disregard the wishes of the Japanese military, it was by no means their duty to take the law in their own hands, especially when the proper course would have been to make proper representations to Mr. Allison's superiors. The statement by the local Japanese spokesman that Mr. Allison could have been shot for failure to obey the orders of a Japanese sentry, may sound very well, but hardly coincides with the facts of the situation. It is probably just as well that he was not, for it is apparent that this common assault has aroused indignation in the United States, and had it been anything more serious the present delicate situation would have been considerably worsened. No wonder need be felt, therefore, that in making his second protest within a month, Mr. Joseph Grew, U.S. Ambassador to Japan, should have expressed himself in the forceful terms he did. For one nation to doubt the good faith of another must always be a serious matter, and it is to be hoped that both sides will show that moderation which alone can maintain proper relations. Much of the remedy is in Japan's own hands, and proper disciplinary action would seem to be the best answer.

M. VAN ZEELAND'S REPORT

M. Paul van Zeeland's long expected report on the possibility of obtaining general reductions in quotas and other obstacles to international trade has now been made public and is a most important and impressive document. The suggested changes which he says should be made come under a number of headings all of which are designed to remove many of the economic causes of war. The economic threats to world peace have long been brought home to the British government which invited M. van Zeeland to make his investigation to ascertain whether or not there was some basis upon which a better peace structure could be raised than that which at present exists, and in his report the investigator suggests the removal, or at least the modification of the many evils which have arisen as a result of the strict nationalism which has come into being since the end of the Great War. The Belgian statesman is unhesitatingly in favour of international economic collaboration as the best alternative to autarchy. Several countries, and most notably Germany, Italy and now Japan have been making determined efforts to secure self-sufficiency, and as M. van Zeeland points out, theoretically it is not unattainable, but only in the case of large countries, having large national markets and dominated by exceptionally powerful central authorities. Those countries are adhering firmly to the policy, but for how long will probably be decided when it is realized how it tends to increase the real cost of living and decrease the standard of life. The system can only be successful in authoritarian states for it is a denial of some of the principles of democracy. The sum total of the findings of M. van Zeeland, as reported by cable, and such reports must of necessity be brief, is that the ideal solution of the present difficulties in the world would be a return to free trade. But any system which tended to modify the barriers at present raised against international trade would still have to take adequate precautions against that degree of underselling which amounts to dumping, and, if tariffs were to go, then the only protection against such practices would be the very one which M. van Zeeland condemns. Were it abandoned, then countries, who by reason of their comparatively low standards of living are able to produce more cheaply than others, would have the latter completely at their mercy, and one of the obstacles to a complete adoption of M. van Zeeland's recommendations in this connection would be found in that one important fact.

STRONG U.S. PROTEST LODGED WITH TOKYO GOVERNMENT

Vigorous Representation Made Against Treatment of Citizens in China: Assurances Queried

HIGH JAPANESE OFFICER SENT TO NANKING

Washington, Jan. 28.

THE United States Government on January 17 handed a strong protest to the Japanese Government, through Mr. Joseph Grew, the American Ambassador in Tokyo, against the treatment of United States nationals in Japanese-occupied areas in China, it was revealed to-day. Although presented some ten days ago, the protest, which was the most vigorous since the American representations regarding the Panay incident, was only published for the first time to-day.

Steps taken hitherto by the Japanese Government to protect American rights and interests, the Note declared, seemed to be inadequate to ensure that hereafter, American nationals, interests and property in China should not be subject to attack by Japanese armed forces.

"The American Government," the protest continued, "finds it impossible to reconcile the continued disregard for American rights with the assurances contained in the Japanese Note of December 24, in which it was stated that rigid orders had been issued to the Japanese forces operating in China to respect American rights and interests."

The document requested the Japanese Government to reinforce the instructions already issued "in such a way as will serve effectively to prevent a repetition of such outrages."

According to a report by Mr. Grew to the State Department, after consideration of the Note by the Japanese Cabinet, a high ranking officer of the Japanese Army was ordered by the War Office to proceed to Nanking to investigate and adopt the necessary measures to prevent a recurrence of such acts.

Allison Assault Case

The State Department declined to comment on the assault of Mr. John B. Allison, Third Secretary of the United States Embassy, by a Japanese sentry in Nanking on Wednesday until an official report of the matter is received from Mr. Allison himself.

Except for the Hearst newspapers, the American press gives the incident comparatively little attention.

Mr. Allison is at present in charge of the United States Embassy in Nanking.—Reuter.

Troops Out of Control

Washington, Jan. 27.

State Department officials in Washington openly express doubt that the Japanese Government has control over Japanese troops in the field, pointing out that repeated protests to Tokyo have had little effect in preventing Japanese soldiers in Nanking from breaking into and looting American property in the former Chinese capital.

Mr. John B. Allison, in charge of the American Embassy in Nanking and whose report led to the protest against Japanese disregard for American rights, yesterday was assaulted by Japanese soldiers in Nanking, according to Japanese reports. The State Department, though declining to comment pending receipt of complete reports, apparently takes a serious view of the incident.

It is pointed out that the Japanese assault on Mr. Allison yesterday might have been prompted by some young Japanese soldier's resentment against Mr. Allison's reports to Washington regarding Japanese looting in Nanking and attacks on Chinese women. Mr. Allison's earlier reports, it was recalled, revealed that Japanese soldiers had dragged Chinese women out of American owned buildings and made off with them.—United Press.

Nanking Sentry "Doing Duty" in Slapping Consul

Apology to U.S. Official Was Only in Courtesy

JAPANESE SPOKESMEN GIVE EXPLANATIONS

The Japanese Embassy and military spokesmen at yesterday morning's conference were subjected to a barrage of questions concerning the slapping of Mr. John M. Allison, in charge of the American Embassy in Nanking, by a Japanese sentry on Wednesday. Apologies were later tendered by the Japanese authorities in Nanking, but the spokesman yesterday morning stated that these were merely in "the direction of courtesy" and that the sentry had only been carrying out his duty.

Asked to enlarge on a Japanese statement on Thursday which referred to "Mr. Allison's attitude, characterized by his outspoken criticism of the Japanese Army, a practice in which he engages notwithstanding his official status," the spokesman said:—"According to the reports, Mr. Allison was engaged in such practices.

"On the 25th (Tuesday)," he continued, "Mr. Allison was proceeding out by a motor car. A Japanese military policeman offered to escort him and Mr. Allison waved his arms, trying to prevent the man from boarding the car and used extremely offensive language in Japanese. The military authorities are taking a very serious view of the matter."

"Is that the only instance of his being insolent?—That is only one instance."

"Is it required of representatives of foreign powers that they should be escorted by Japanese military police if they are going anywhere?—The Embassy spokesman is not in a position here to criticize or comment on the action of another diplomatic official. In view of the question raised, however, the following fact should be brought to light.

Nanking Interview

"Mr. Allison arrived in Nanking on January 6 (went on the spokesman). Mr. Okimura acted as interpreter for a Japanese high staff officer in conversation with Mr. Allison. At that time, it was brought to the attention of Mr. Allison that in view of the fact that Nanking was under Japanese military occupation, there were several prohibited areas in Nanking even within the city walls, also in view of military necessity it would be advisable to have Mr. Allison escorted by a Japanese military official whenever he went out of the Embassy compound. When informed of this, Mr. Allison replied 'All right.' This practice, the Embassy spokesman presumes, has been continued ever since."

"Mr. Allison (said a correspondent) has had occasion to protest to the Japanese military authorities against the illegal entry of Japanese soldiers on American property, discourtesies to the flag and so on, but it seems that by his protests he has drawn the wrath of the Japanese army. I asked for instances, but you have cited only one.—It was not his refusal, but the offensive language in Japanese."

"What did he say that was so offensive?—'Baka,' which means imbecile, and no military police officer will tolerate that."

"Imbecile"

"The officer was called 'Imbecile' and that is the basis for all this criticism?—We regret we are not at liberty to give further details at this time, here."

"Why did a staff officer later apologize if Mr. Allison was so much at fault?—The apology was merely for the fact that the sentry had slapped Mr. Allison. It apparently referred only to the slapping."

Asked why Mr. Allison should be trying to inspect a Chinese house, the spokesman said:—"There was a case of investigation for assault and as the persons assaulted were living in a building connected with Ginling College, Mr. Allison was taking part in this investigation. The investigation, however, shifted from the home of the victim to the alleged building where the assault took place and this was the Chinese house mentioned before."

Asked if it were true that Mr. Allison's presence was not wanted in the further course of the investigation, the spokesman said:—"The building in question was being used for quarters by Japanese forces and consequently foreigners and foreign officials were not admitted. The military police accompanying Mr. Allison explained to him and the other American that their entry was not wanted and that they would not be allowed to enter. This discussion took thirty minutes, whereupon Mr. Allison agreed, or at least appeared to agree, not to enter.

"When the door was opened, however, he and his American companion rushed in. This is why they were stopped....The sentry said in English, Back! several times. Because Mr. Allison and his companion did not go back, the sentry slapped both their faces."

"Conceding that what you say is correct, is any punishment given to

JAPANESE HIT-RUN ACCIDENT

Three Chinese Spilled as Motor-Car Continues

Another "hit-and-run" accident involving a Japanese driver occurred in the Settlement late on Thursday evening, causing slight injury to three Chinese.

The accident took place at about 11.10 o'clock at the intersection of Nanking Road and Yu Ya Ching Road. The Japanese car was turning into Yu Ya Ching Road from Nanking Road when it struck the rickshaw, in which two Chinese were riding. The small vehicle was overturned and its occupants and the puller were thrown to the pavement.

Although an Indian traffic policeman on point duty at the crossing shouted to the driver to stop, the car continued and disappeared.

Recently a Japanese military car was involved in a similar accident on The Bund, where a Chinese workman was seriously injured.

NEW FLAGSHIP FOR YANGTZE PATROL

H.M.S. Scorpion Leaving for China in August

London, Jan. 27.

H.M.S. Scorpion, a 670-ton gunboat designed for service as flagship on the Yangtze River, has been completed at East Cowes. She will leave for China in August.

The gun-boat, which is the eighth vessel to bear the name Scorpion in the British Navy, is 200 feet long with a 34-foot beam. It was ordered by the British Government in 1936.

The main armaments consist of two 4-inch guns, one 3.7 howitzer and thirteen smaller guns.

Designed to act as flagship, the Scorpion will provide adequate accommodation for the Admiral, his staff officers, and the crew.

The gun-boat is propelled by twin-screw reduction geared turbines, generating 4,500 s.h.p.—Reuter.

British Police Sergeant Taken By Ta Tao Group

Dragged to Their Station by Chinese

NO PROTEST YET

Sequel to an Attempt to Uphold Licence Law

Sergeant J. M. Leeming, British member of the Shanghai Municipal Police, was virtually placed under arrest for a short while yesterday afternoon by members of the so-called "Ta Tao Government" police in the western outside roads area.

Sergeant Leeming, who hails from Canada and who is attached to the Traffic Headquarters of the Shanghai Municipal Police, was on duty at Brenan Piece when he noticed a uniformed member of the "Great Way Government" police travelling on the Municipal road on a bicycle without the required Municipal licence.

When Sergeant Leeming halted the man, it is reported, an argument started, as a result of which the "Great Way" policeman fetched several of his comrades who then began to pull the foreign officer along the road to make him go to their branch police station. Sergeant Leeming agreed to go along and after a brief sojourn at the station he was permitted to return to his duties.

It is understood that Sergeant Leeming made a report of the incident upon returning to the Settlement proper, but it was not learned whether he intends to lodge a protest with the British authorities.

DOLLAR LINE TO CUT DOWN FLEET

Four Ships to Operate Far East Pacific Service

San Francisco, Jan. 27.

The Dollar Steamship Lines announced here to-day that its fleet of passenger liners in the future would comprise eight instead of thirteen ships. Four of the ships will operate on round-the-world service and four in trans-Pacific service, the announcement said.

The Dollar Lines recently reached a subsidy agreement with the Federal Maritime Commission to permit financial reorganization of the company within the next six months. The company receives approximately $6,000 daily from the Government as an operating subsidy.

Following financial reorganization, shipping circles believe, the Dollar Lines may negotiate another agreement with the Maritime Commission providing subsidies for new ship construction.

Similar agreements were reached recently between the Commission and eight other major American shipping companies. The new building programme thus far provides for the construction of 55 merchant vessels within the next five years.—United Press.

NO DAMAGE DONE IN NANCHANG

Chinese Deny Japanese Claim of Bombing Success

Hankow, Jan. 28.

The claim made by the Japanese that three Chinese 'planes were destroyed on the ground and seven others shot down in aerial combats by Japanese machines during the raid on Nanchang yesterday morning is denied here. The Chinese Aviation Headquarters, in a statement to-day, says:—

"Because of the low ceiling prevailing, the Japanese 'planes flew very low when bombing Nanchang aerodrome. After dropping their bombs on the airfield, the Japanese 'planes immediately went up behind a cloud-bank where, after a brief engagement with Chinese pursuit 'planes, they left.

"The Chinese side suffered no casualties, and no aeroplanes were damaged. No damage was done on the ground with the exception of a small house, which was set on fire.—Reuter.

U.S. GUARD GIVEN JAPANESE SHIP

San Francisco Authorities Ready for Bomb Plots

San Francisco, Jan. 27.

Pinkerton detectives and Customs guards were doubled on the pier here to-day as the Japanese ship Taiyo Maru prepared to dock despite a rumour that the ship would be bombed.

All approaches to the pier were heavily guarded as the passenger liner steamed in. Both the ship and the dock had been carefully searched for explosives, police officials stated.

Five Coast Guard cutters patrolled the bay near other ships loading cotton for Japan fearing a repetition of the recent attempt to bomb the Hiye Maru in Seattle.—United Press.

Soldiers and people alike should assist him and protect him." The signature and chop are those of the Field Headquarters of the Aviation Corps.

BRITISH BELIEF IN LEAGUE'S IDEALS IS UNSHAKEN

Mr. Anthony Eden Makes Moving Plea for Faith: Dr. Wellington Koo Urges Greater Courage

Geneva, Jan. 27.

UNSHAKEN faith of the British Government in the aims and ideals of the League of Nations was expressed by Mr. Anthony Eden, the British Foreign Secretary, in a stirring speech to-day before the 100th. session of the League Council. M. Yvon Delbos, the French Foreign Minister, spoke in the same vein, declaring that the French Government maintained complete confidence in the League.

Dr. Wellington Koo, chief Chinese delegate, in his address, sounded a jarring note in his strong condemnation of the lack of courage of the League in standing by its principles. M. Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet Commissar, however, said that, despite the withdrawal of some members of the League, the Soviet Union continued to think that, given the loyalty and goodwill of the great number of states remaining members, the League might serve as a great obstacle to the further unleashing of the forces of aggression.

The League, of Nations, declared the British Foreign Secretary, could legitimately be proud of its achievements but there could be no advantage in shutting their eyes to certain events, however regrettable and however much they might deplore them.

"By the defection of some of its more important members," Mr. Eden asserted, "the League is now faced with the fact that its area of co-operation is restricted and that its ability to fulfil all functions originally contemplated for it is thereby reduced.

"We are compelled regretfully to recognize that fact," the British Foreign Secretary said, "but His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom do not think it inappropriate, at a moment when they have to acknowledge repudiation in some quarters of the League, to declare that their faith in the aims and ideals that inspire it remains unshaken."

"The principles on which the League was founded are laid down in the preamble to the Covenant. They are the promotion of international co-operation and the achievement of international peace and security on the basis of respect for international treaties. To those principles His Majesty's Government hold fast and they believe that true peace and orderly progress and prosperity cannot be looked for in the world unless all nations co-operate in some system based upon these principles.

First Impulse Survives

"For the moment we must realize that, in the present circumstances, the League is not in a position to achieve all that was hoped for. It was designed to hold all the nations of the world together in resistance to war and injustice. It was born of a universal desire to avoid a recurrence of the horrors through which the world had just passed. It was an idea hailed by all nations as responding to an urgent and spontaneous impulse.

"Believing as we do that the impulse survives, we can hope that it will ultimately prevail and that differences will be narrowed to those of method.

"For that reason it seems to His Majesty's Government essential, in these difficult times, to retain what still exists. They consider that the League, despite its existing limitations, is the best instrument that has yet been devised for giving effect to the principles of international co-operation, and they are, therefore, determined to keep it in existence, to give it their full support, and to make use of its machinery and procedure to the fullest extent that circumstances permit.

No Ideological Camp

"The British Government," the British Foreign Secretary continued, welcomes any co-operation in the work of the League which non-members may be disposed to give. They do not regard their membership as preventing or hindering friendly relations with non-members, since they see no reason why such relations should involve them in any departures from the principles to which I have referred."

"The League," Mr. Eden asserted, "has never been, and the British Government, on their part, are resolved that it shall not become, the home of any ideology save that of peace through international co-operation.

"Let us hold fast to our principles and devote our whole energies to proving their worth. Let us not be drawn into any sterile, embittering controversy with those who do not think and work with us at this moment. Rather let us hope that appeasement may be achieved that will unite all nations again to find a way to peace through co-operation.

"When that day comes may be we shall unite in finding new and better methods in adapting and modifying our procedure, but at present we must recognize realities."

"Our best course," Mr. Eden added, "seems to be to continue to use the instrument lying ready to our hands for all the purposes to which it is fitted."

Dr. Koo's Scathing Censure

World peace and security, declared Dr. Wellington Koo in his speech, were being confronted by lawlessness and violence seldom witnessed in history. International law, instead of being a rule of conduct among governments, was being openly challenged or swept into the limbo of oblivion, and treaty obligations were being disregarded with impunity.

The League, Dr. Koo declared, had become a passive spectator, serving as a platform of empty platitude.

He urged the need of a radical change in the League's policy to rescue it from apparent paralysis and threatened disintegration. The League, he said, should boldly try to live up to its obligations to restrain aggression and maintain peace.

The Sino-Japanese undeclared war, the Chinese delegate said, had been raging for six months. Fifty nations had confirmed that Japanese aggression was solely responsible, and yet this aggression was being allowed to continue.

Courage Greatly Needed

The strength and resources of those who cherished a policy of violence, Dr. Koo asserted, could not be compared with the collective strength of the entire membership of the League, especially when reinforced by the great peace-loving Democracy which the United States was.

"A lack of conviction, or a persistent spirit of national egoism," he continued, "accounts for the ineffectiveness of the League and the steady eclipse of its authority and prestige.

"If the League, cowed by the criticism of its enemies, rests content with its self-imposed state of paralysis, or is even willing to emasculate from the Covenant the most vital provisions for the defence of peace, then the League's days are numbered."

"It is not too late, however," Dr. Koo concluded, "to rescue the League through a pledge of renewed faith by its members."—Reuter.

Debate on Reform Urged

Geneva, Jan. 28.

Delegates of the smaller Powers decided in a private sitting to demand in the Committee of 28, which is charged with the study of League Covenant reform, a discussion of the legal basis of Article XVI concerning sanctions, although the British and French representatives are most anxious to postpone such a debate. The private sitting was attended by the delegates of the three Scandinavian countries as well as Holland, Belgium, Switzerland and Finland.—Trans-Ocean.

VAN ZEELAND'S WORLD TRADE REFORMS PLAN

Belgian Statesman Offers Weighty Suggestions

FULL COLLABORATION

Conference of Powers Is Envisaged

London, Jan. 28.

Weighty suggestions are made by M. Paul van Zeeland, former Belgian Premier, in a report presented to the British and French Governments to-day as a result of his "enquiry into the possibility of obtaining general reductions in quotas and other obstacles to international trade."

In the course of his investigations, which began last April, M. van Zeeland visited the United States and the principal countries in Central and Western Europe.

It is understood that the British Government is prepared to play its part in practical action on the lines suggested in the report if other countries are ready to join in.

Among the suggestions contained in the report are:

1. Negotiation of bilateral commercial agreements based on the most-favoured-nation clause in order to reduce tariff barriers.
2. Gradual suppression of industrial quotas.
3. Revision or extension of the tripartite monetary declaration by France, Great Britain and America.
4. Abolition of exchange controls.
5. Preliminary conference between the leading economic Powers to secure international economic collaboration.

Collaboration Preferred

At the outset of his report, the Belgian statesman declares unhesitatingly in favour of international economic collaboration as a better objective than autarchy. He says that no country can avoid being influenced by the general movements of international economy, whether for good or evil.

Theoretically, he asserts, autarchy is not unattainable, but it is evidently out of the question, except in a large national market dominated by an exceptionally powerful central authority.

M. van Zeeland holds that autarchy would involve an increase in the real cost of living and a lowering of the standard of life.

Although he found that all countries displayed a great interest in his mission in principle, this attitude almost everywhere became qualified by a marked reserve in regard to embarking on practical action.

Tariff Reform Methods

Dealing with tariffs, in view of the fact that the general movement for reduction is outside the range of possibility M. van Zeeland thinks that governments might undertake not to raise or widen the present range, and gradually to reduce duties of an exceptional character.

He proposes the suppression of all duties and restrictions affecting the export of raw materials, and says that one of the most efficacious methods of reducing tariff barriers is the negotiation of bilateral commercial agreements based on the most-favoured-nation clause.

But the application of this clause, he declares, should be exercised in the spirit originally inspiring it.

Formidable hindrances to international trade include indirect protection by a series of restrictive regulations. The best-known example is the abuse of sanitary regulations in order completely to close a home market against various agricultural products.

Quotas and Dumping Abuses

Another method is the framing of regulations which really aim at some individual producer, while a third is the abuse of dumping measures. M. van Zeeland here advocates again the conclusion of bilateral agreements, and reference to arbitral bodies in the case of complaints.

The Belgian statesmen describes quotas as one of the most formidable obstacles to international trade. He recommends the gradual suppression of industrial quotas, but says there might be a higher tariff for quantities after the first quota is exhausted. The suppression of quotas, he adds, does not imply the suppression of international cartels.

No obstacles to international trade, M. van Zeeland continues, are more harmful and more formidable than from monetary disturbances or restrictions arising from the transfer of capital or commercial payments.

World Money Standard

Ruling out the present practicability of a re-establishment of the gold standard (though on a considerably altered basis) as a solution of the problem of an international monetary standard, M. van Zeeland suggests interim solutions in a revision or extension of the tripartite declaration by Brtain, France and America.

The parties would define the reciprocal parities of their currencies, and pledge themselves to keep eventual variations within certain limits for a least six months.

The Belgian statesman favours the abolition of exchange controls and clearing by stages. The first and most urgent step, he says, is the suppression of restriction on payment for merchandise.

International Indebtedness

Referring to the liquidation of past arrears, M. van Zeeland declares that it is desirable that bonds issued by debtor states be expressed in the currency of creditor nations.

Current arrears should be treated in the same way as new debts. Countries freed from restrictions would require trade credit facilities, which might be arranged through the Bank for International Settlement.

In the concluding part of his report, the Belgian ex-Premier says he finds it impossible to ignore the fact that he is working in the shadow of unsolved political problems, including armaments.

Finally, he recommends a preliminary conference between the principal economic Powers, who would be asked if they agreed to take part in an attempt to secure international economic collaboration and if they accepted the main lines of this report as a basis for discussion.

The next stage would be the appointment of a bureau which would receive information and representations from all states and draw up a programme of constructive action. If the interested parties took up a favourable attitude, the Bureau would draw up a pact.—Reuter.

U.S. Congress Urged to Build Strong Defence

President Roosevelt Gives Up Hope of Arms Truce

VAST EXPANSION OF ALL MILITARY EQUIPMENT

Washington, Jan. 28.

Present Roosevelt to-day warned Congress that the defence of the United States was inadequate and that national security called for an expenditure of U.S. $800,000,000 for a longtime naval building programme.

"Congress knows that for many years this Government has sought in many capitals and with the leaders of many governments to find a way to limit and reduce armaments and establish at least the probability of world peace," the President said.

"These efforts have failed up to the present. We as a peaceful Nation cannot and will not abandon active search for an agreement of the nations to limit armaments to end aggression but it is clear that until such is reached—and I have given up hope it will be reached—we are compelled to think of our own national safety.

"It is an ominous fact that at least one-fourth of the world's population is involved in merciless and devastating conflict....Armies are fighting in the Far East and in Europe....and tension throughout the world is high.

Recommendations Listed

"Our national defence is, in light of the increasing armaments of other nations, inadequate for purposes of national security. It is specifically and solely because of the piling up of additional land and sea armaments of other countries and because such involve a threat to world peace and security, I make the following recommendations to Congress.

"Firstly, Army additions in anti-aircraft and materials to the sum of U.S.$8,800,000 of which U.S.$6,800,000 be appropriated in the fiscal year of 1939;

"Secondly, better establishment of enlisted reserve forces the sum of U.S.$4,500,000;

Thirdly, expenditure of U.S.$6,080,000 for the manufacture of army material of which U.S.$5,000,000 be expended in the fiscal year of 1939;

"Fourthly, that U.S.$2,000,000 be for making up deficiencies in ammunition for the Army;

"Fifthly, the existing authorized building programme and increases in replacements of the Navy to be increased by twenty per cent;

"Sixthly, Congress to authorize and appropriate for four ships, laying down two additional battleships and two additional cruisers during 1938;

"Seventhly, Congress to authorise and appropriate not exceeding U.S. $16,000,000 for the construction of a number of new types of small vessels, to be regarded as experimental, in the light of new developments among navies and to include the preparation of planes and other types of ships. If it is necessary to construct such ships in the future there should be advanced the sum of U.S. $16,000,000.

Profiteering Must End

"I believe also the time has come for Congress to enact legislation aimed at the prevention of profiteering in time of war, and equalization of burdens in a possible war....," the President said.

"It is necessary for all to realize the unfortunate world conditions today have resulted too often in the discarding of those principles and treaties which underlie international law and order and in the entrance of many new factors in the actual conduct of war.

"Adequate defence means that to protect not only our coasts but also our communities far removed from the coast, we must keep any potential enemy many hundreds of miles away from our continental limits.

"We cannot assume our defence would be limited to one ocean or one coast and that the other ocean and other coast would with certainty be safe. We cannot be certain that our connecting link—the Panama Canal—would be safe.

"Adequate defence therefore, affects simultaneously the defence of every part of the United States. It is our clear duty to further every effort toward peace but at the same time protect the nation. That is the purpose of these recommendations. Such protection is and will be based not on aggression but on defence." President Roosevelt concluded.

Vinson Bill Introduced

Representative Fred M. Vinson, Democrat of Kentucky and Chairman of the House Naval Committee, immediately introduced a measure authorizing a twenty per cent. increase in the combat strength of the United States Fleet, providing the nation with its largest Navy in history.

Mr. Vinson asked Congress to authorize 47 new combat ships including three new dreadnaughts, 22 new auxiliary ships and 1,000 aeroplanes. The measure asks for funds for 1,200 additional officers and 20,000 additional enlisted men. The bill further provides for the expenditure of U.S.$15,000,000 at the President's discretion for the construction of experimental vessels of 3,000 tons. The measures is drawn so as to permit the President to suspend construction of vessels other than those being built if an international agreement is reached limiting armaments. The United States must be a signatory to such agreement before construction can be halted.—United Press.

PARK LANE ROBBERY CASE SEQUEL

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

London, Jan. 28.

BOMB TOSSED INTO JAPANESE CONSUL ABODE

Missile Lands on Lawn: Fails to Explode

TERRORISTS ACTIVE

Chapei Police Station Also Attacked

A bomb of the canister type was thrown into the grounds of the Japanese Consular Residence in Seymour Road, at Weihaiwei Road, by an unidentified person at about 5 o'clock yesterday evening.

The missile, which consisted of a cigarette-tin filled with explosive, failed to explode where it landed in the lawn of the well-known residence on the east side of Seymour Road.

Although Japanese members of the Shanghai Municipal Police are constantly on duty outside the Consular dwelling, none of the Japanese constables apparently noticed the person who came up to the garden wall and hurled the bomb. It is understood that a Japanese policeman had made a thorough search of the premises at 3 p.m., without finding anything amiss. At 5 o'clock the unexploded bomb was discovered by a Japanese constable and handed over to Bubbling Well Station, where it was made harmless.

At a late hour last night, Japanese sources indicated that the bomb thrown into the Japanese Consular Residence had exploded without, however causing material damage.

Another Outrage

It was also reported that a bomb or grenade, of unknown type, had been thrown and exploded outside the house of Mr. T. Yamamoto, manager of the local branch of the N.Y.K. Line, at 116 Jessfield Road, again without much damage or injury to persons.

A further Japanese report stated that an as yet unidentified Chinese, whose connection with terrorist activity was yet to be established, had been arrested in the Western district carrying six hand grenades of the type used in the Chinese army.

The bombing was the second one within Settlement limits during the day, the first being when an unidentified person threw a canister bomb, fashioned from a cigarette-tin, into the corridor outside Room 218, Hardoon Building, at 6.45 o'clock yesterday morning and escaped. The room is occupied by the Japanese censors who deal with Chinese-registered newspapers, but as there was no-one on the floor at the time non-one was injured. The damage from the explosion was very slight.

A Chinese watchman on the ground floor first investigated and then called the police from Central Station. He did not see the person who threw the bomb.

When the Japanese who use the office arrived later, they investigated the occurrence and then started work as if nothing had happened. It was announced that the office would continue to function at the premises.

Detectives found and examined fragments of the home-made missile in the corridor.

Ta Tao Target

The Robison Road Police Sub-Station of the Ta Tao (Great Way) City Government was made the target of bomb-attacks at 6 p.m. yesterday when person or persons unknown tossed two bombs of the cigarette tin type into the station building. The explosion that followed slightly injured a Chapei policeman there and damaged some windows and furniture. The Police Sub-Station is opposite the Naigai Wata Kaisha Cotton Mill No. 1, which is Japanese-owned.

In Concession

In the French Concession, an unknown person threw a hand grenade in front of House No. 10, Route Camille Lorioz, occupied by Mr. Chen Chun, a Chinese house, about 7 a.m. yesterday. The grenade, which exploded, failed to cause any injuries, and only resulted in minor damage. According to the French Police, the incident did not appear to have political motives. Nevertheless, investigations were being continued by the French Police.

An armed robbery was committed at 7 p.m. yesterday by six men, two of whom were armed, at 630 Changping Road. After intimidating the occupants, the gunmen gathered money, jewellery and clothing of an unknown value and escaped.

Another armed hold-up last night was staged by five men, four armed, at House No. 19, Lane No. 590, Haining Road, where property valued at $150 was stolen. No arrests were made.

U.S. SOLICITOR-GENERAL NOMINATED

Mr. R. H. Jackson, Anti-Trust Advocate, Chosen for Post

Washington, Jan. 27.

President Roosevelt to-day nominated Mr. Robert H. Jackson, Assistant Attorney General, to succeed Mr. Stanley Reed, Solicitor General, who has been nominated for appointment to the supreme Court.

Observers believed there was a possibility of some controversy in the Senate over Mr. Jackson's appointment because of his views on monopoly and trust problems. Mr. Jackson recently has been one of the outspoken members of the Administration in attacking business trusts.

Mr. Jackson and Mr. Reed are close personal friends.—United Press.

He indicated he wished to resume his private law practice. He had been active in affairs relating to Far Eastern developments in recent months.—United Press.

First Execution By Pootung "Ta Tao" Government

Interpreter Loses Head for "Embezzlement"

FIVE OTHERS DETAINED FOR INQUIRY

The first execution ordered by the "Great Way City Government" took place on the Y.M.C.A. playground in Pootung at 8 a.m. on Thursday, according to a Chinese report received here yesterday from Pootung.

The man who paid the supreme penalty was reported to be Yuan Lih-fan, aged 27, an interpreter of the Pootung organization. The charges against him were embezzlement of taxes together with tax-collectors.

Arrested at the same time with the interpreter were the following five Chinese: Fu Chun-ho, Ma Chi, Liu Han-ta, Yuan Chun-sun and Liu Chun-tse. These Chinese were also taken to the Y.M.C.A. playground to witness the execution and are now being detained for further inquiry.

The execution was reported to have been ordered by the Pootung city government after an investigation conducted by its police bureau. The interpreter, who spoke fluent Japanese, was said to have been found to be the brains behind the embezzlement. He was also alleged to have overcharged taxes for his own benefit.

A sword was used to carry out the death sentence, according to the same report.

CABLE CODES CAN BE A "SECRET"

Consular Certificate Said To Be Sufficient

The position with regard to the censorship of commercial cablegrams and telegrams is apparently not quite so bad as the official advertisement yesterday seemed to make out, a high official of one of the local cable offices informed the "North-China Daily News" yesterday morning. In actual fact, what it amounted to was little more than a total assumption of the rights formerly exercised by the Chinese censors.

The official advertisement, appearing over the signature of "C.G.R.A. The Cablegram Acceptance and Delivery Office," stated that no more coded telegrams, with the exception of official despatches, would be accepted. General commercial telegrams, however, would be accepted providing they were certified as such by the consular official having jurisdiction over the sender "and in a code submitted to the censors at the time of filing, or previously."

It was the latter clause that caused most of the excitement, for large firms, such as banks, could not possibly provide any outside person with a copy of their confidential codes.

The cable company official, however, said that this was not quite the position, for such coded messages would be transmitted if certified by the consular official, and the senders would be given ample time to secure such certificates. If such certificates were not forthcoming, the code would have to be submitted to the censors. Apparently, the word "and" should have read "or," the sentence then reading "or in a code submitted, etc."

American Protest

At the press conference yesterday afternoon, the Japanese spokesman said that a protest had been received from the American authorities, but he was not in a position to divulge any details. No decision, he said in reply to a question, had been reached with regard to the delivery of coded telegrams arriving from abroad.

Another correspondent (Mr. H. J. Timperley), representing the "Manchester Guardian," stated that he understood that the British Consul-General had filed a protest with the Japanese Consul-General concerning the deletion of 90 words from a message of the correspondent's yesterday; the spokesman said he had not been given any information to this effect as yet.

52 TERRORIST SUSPECTS ORDERED RELEASED

Police Seize Pistols and Arrest More Gangsters

Of the 105 men and women rounded up by the S.M. Police on suspicion of having been involved in recent terrorism in the Settlement, only 27 remained in the custody of the police yesterday, the others having been ordered released by the First Special District Court, on application of the police, for lack of evidence. Twenty-six were released last week and 52 others were freed yesterday morning.

Meanwhile the police continued their search for firearms and round-up of gangsters. Officers from Sinza Police Station brought six men and one woman before the court and charged them with illegal possession of two automatic pistols and seven rounds of ammunition. Five of the men were arrested at Tung Shing Lee, Eurkill Road, while a man and a woman were taken into custody at 425 Myburgh Road. All were remanded.

Another man was remanded for having been concerned with six others in robbing a Chinese of $2,263 in an empty house at 490 Canton Road on January 10.

JUDGMENT IN BIG WOOD OIL THEFT CASE

Prison terms ranging from two and half years to two months each and fines ranging in sum from $700 to $100 were imposed by Judge Feng in the First Special District Court yesterday upon more than 20 Chinese, the majority of whom were accused of the theft of $319,490 worth of wood oil from the N.K.K. lighters, anchored in the Whangpoo River, off the Shanghai Power Co., between August and November last, four others were charged with attempting to steal a cargo of wood oil valued at $243,683 from the same location in November, and one was accused of receiving a quantity of the stolen oil. One of the sentenced men was a former detective.

JAPANESE POWER CO. REPORT "ABSURD"

Shanghai Company Official Unimpressed

TOKYO JOURNAL TELLS OF AMBITIOUS PLAN

A report appearing yesterday in the "Industrial Daily News," a Japanese Tokyo journal, to the effect that a new Japanese enterprise to be called the Central China Electric Company, was to absorb the Shanghai Power Company, was characterized as "absurd" by an official of the local company when interviewed yesterday by the "North-China Daily News". The report, which was summarized in a Reuter despatch from Tokyo, stated that Japanese power interests were organizing the concern for the purpose of taking over the Chapei Power Company, and also absorbing the Shanghai Power Company.

The report goes on to state that the Japanese concern was to be capitalized at Y.45,000,000 and, with its head office at Shanghai, would assume the management of all existing power companies in the cities between Shanghai, Nanking and Hangchow. It would later merge with the North China Electric Power and Development Company in Tientsin. The "Industrial Daily News" stated that Mr. Eiichi Okabe, managing director of the Tokyo Electric Light Company, was at present in Shanghai conducting negotiations.

Reported Capital Inadequate

The Shanghai Power Company official interviewed emphatically stated that the company had heard nothing before yesterday as to the proposed measure. He pointed out that the capital of the new Japanese concern, as published in the "Industrial Daily News," was not nearly sufficient to cover the purchase of the Shanghai Power Company, whose debenture issue alone amounted to $88,000,000. The Japanese company would need well over twice its proposed capital simply to purchase the Shanghai Power Company, the official added. "If the Japanese were thinking of taking over the Shanghai Power Company," the official concluded, "we would certainly have heard of their plans well before this, but we only received the report concerning the company to-day."

Other authoritative circles in Shanghai characterized the allusion to the Shanghai Power Company as an error in translation, pointing out that what was probably meant was that the new Japanese company would take over Chinese power companies operating in and around Shanghai. It was learned that the taking over of the Chapei Power Company by the Japanese concern would not appreciably affect the operations of the Shanghai Power Company. The latter in normal times used to supply the Chapei company with a small quantity of electricity at a very low rate, but otherwise the working of the two companies was on an entirely separate basis. The Chapei Power Company was severely damaged during the hostilities, and ceased operation several months ago.

JAPANESE SOLDIERS IN FOREIGN HOUSE

Gardener and Coolie Lose Wages, Gratuity

The residence of Mr. C. O. Cumming at 228 Hungjao Road was broken into by a small party of armed Japanese soldiers on Monday evening at about 6.30 p.m., it was reported yesterday.

A Chinese gardener and a coolie, who were looking after the house, were victims of the uninvited visit, as the Japanese were said to have taken a total of $47 away from them. There were no other occupants at the time. The house has been vacated and there is very little of value in it.

The money taken away from the two Chinese servants represents their wages and the Chinese New Year gratuity which were paid them by Mr. Cumming.

A complaint against the incident is understood to have been lodged with the responsible authorities.

SIXTH ANNIVERSARY OF 1932 WAR

Chinese Flags at Half Mast: No Meeting Held

HANKOW'S CAMPAIGN TO START WAR FUND

The sixth anniversary of the first Sino-Japanese hostilities in Shanghai was observed by the Chinese community, who flew their national flags at half mast yesterday. No public meeting was held, however.

The flags, big and small, were seen on roofs of many buildings both in the International Settlement and the French Concession.

In former years, Chinese public bodies usually sent delegates to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Miachang, where one of the severest battles was fought in the first war. In addition, memorial meetings were held by public bodies and Kuomintang officials.

In view of the present situation in Shanghai, all these ceremonies were omitted yesterday.

Hankow Observance

Hankow, Jan. 28.

Mass meetings and public lectures were held all over Hankow this morning, under the auspices of the Hankow Kuomintang, to observe the anniversary of the start of Sino-Japanese hostilities in Shanghai in 932.

The Hankow Kuomintang will later issue a statement urging the populace to support the Government in its resistance against Japan. Public bodies are organizing a movement to contribute the money ordinarily spent in celebrating the Chinese New Year towards a war fund.—Reuter.

AUTHORITIES ASKED TO LIFT CURFEW

To Facilitate Settlement of Accounts

Chinese native banks are extending their office hours to facilitate the settlement of accounts, while Chinese banking institutions are expected to remain open to-morrow, Chinese New Year eve.

As the settlement day falls to-morrow, the First Special District Citizens' Federation is petitioning the Settlement and French Concession authorities, the Chinese Chamber of Commerce and also the Chinese Ratepayers' Associations, to lift the curfew on that day.

Owing to the present emergency, Chinese native banks are reported to be experiencing difficulty in collecting their accounts. So far only 40 per cent. of the outstanding accounts have been settled, while more money is expected to be collected during these two days.

Chinese Rice and Bean Trade Association and several other trade associations have advertised in the Chinese papers, asking their customers to clear their accounts before the settlement day.

BIRTHS IN REFUGEE CAMPS

There were altogether 153 cases of birth among the 6 camps administered by the International Relief Committee 123 Boulevard de Montigny. The rate is slightly higher than the normal birth rate of the Chinese population in the International Settlement, 18.7 per mille, which was probably caused by the fear and excitement of the refugee-mothers.

For the feeding of these new babies and for other babies under two-years 770 in all the Committee has received a timely contribution of 1,350 pounds of Milk Powder from one Mr. Feng, local merchant. These milk powders are ordinarily priced at $2.00 a pound, but through the kindness of Messrs. Nestles Company a very special discount was allowed for their purchase. Both the mothers and the babies are doing well.

HEAVILY ARMED MEN ROB JESSFIELD HOUSE

A gang of six robbers, armed with three Mauser pistols, intimidated the occupants of 5 Yoong Loh Tsung, off Jessfield Road, before daybreak yesterday and stole a large amount of property. The terrified residents did not dare to raise an alarm and the bandits escaped. The loss was estimated at about $1,500.

1932 WAR REMEMBERED

Memorial services for blue-jackets who fell in action during the local hostilities in 1932 were held yesterday on the roof of the Naval Landing Party's barracks, Kiangwan Road.

Recalling the 1932 incident, the "Shanghai United News" yesterday said it was a "convincing proof that history repeats itself."

"This additional evidence of America's humanitarian spirit and traditional friendship for China, coming at this hour of our national trial and tribulation, is deeply appreciated and will be gratefully remembered by us," declares Dr. H. H. Kung, President of the Executive Yuan, who forwarded the message through the American Embassy.—Reuter.

WRITER OF THREATENING LETTERS SENTENCED

A total of 23 threatening letters were ordered confiscated by Judge Feng in the First Special District Court yesterday after he had sent Huang Tse-yuan, the writer of these letters, to gaol for 18 months on seven charges of attempted extortion from property owners and rich persons. The sums demanded by the sentenced man ranged from $30,000 to $2,000.

To some of the complainants, the sentenced man despatched letters demanding the "donation" of large sums of money to the Ta Tao (Great Way) City Government, and threatening to take "drastic action" if the money was not forthcoming. The complainants were instructed to send their replies to a box at a local Chinese newspaper. Among the complainants were several big Chinese shop owners and a Mr. V. P. Howe.

JAPANESE ENVOY DEPARTS

Mr. Kawagoe Sails on Recall To Japan

DIFFICULT SERVICE IN CHINA

Seventeen months after his arrival here, the Japanese Ambassador, Mr. Shigeru Kawagoe, yesterday at noon bade farewell to Shanghai from the deck of the Japan-bound Shanghai Maru.

The envoy's departure was the direct sequel of the Japanese Government's declaration on January 16 that it would no longer deal with the Chinese administration.

Accompanying the envoy to Japan were Mr. Hiromu Hoshida, Chancellor of the Embassy, and Mr. Nortake Yoshioka, Senior Consul.

Mr. Kawagoe was appointed Ambassador in July, 1936, in succession to Mr. Hachiro Arita, who was made Foreign Minister in Mr. Koki Hirota's Cabinet. Mr. Kawagoe came here from Tientsin, where he served as Consul-General

During Mr. Kawagoe's tenure of office, Sino-Japanese relations passed through one of their darkest stages, having been marked by a series of anti-Japanese terrorist acts in various parts of China.

KULANGSU REPORTS SAFETY

Foreign Settlement Spared in Bombing Raids

Hongkong, Jan. 28.

The port of Amoy has been repeatedly raided by Japanese planes during the last few days, reports from that city state. During one of the raids a big Chinese hotel was hit and destroyed, killing many of the immates.

The foreign settlement on the island of Kulangsu in the harbour of Amoy is still a place of safety, according to the annual report for 1937 which has just been published. Both Chinese and Japanese are respecting the neutrality of Kulangsu. The effects of the hostilities are, however, also felt there and not only through the more or less complete paralysis of trade. Numerous Chinese refugees have fled to the island, especially in order to have recourse to the concession's sanitary facilities.

In co-operation with the Chinese, the administration of Kulangsu has successfully controlled food prices and prevented excessive price increases. The authorities have also stored food reserves for emergencies.

In its annual report, the foreign concession administration expresses deep gratitude for the wholehearted co-operation of the Chinese government and the Chinese police.—Trans-Ocean.

The amount represented that of a cheque dated December 1 last, issued by the defendant to the plaintiff. It was alleged that it was dishonoured when presented for cash. Messrs. Char Ling-ching and Char Wen-dah, of Messrs. Teesdale, Newman & Co., represented the plaintiff.

MORGAN CASE AGAIN COMES UP

Chartered Bank Accountant Gives Evidence

The case against Mr. "Jerry" Morgan again came up before Mr. C. H. Haines, Registrar, in H.M. Police Court yesterday, and after occupying most of the day was adjourned. Further evidence was taken from Chow Zung-zai, Mr. Morgan's compradore, and the next witness was Mr. George Gordon Brown, sub-accountant of the Chartered Bank, who identified a document described as a letter form required when a partnership account was opened at the bank. The letter referred to the Far Eastern Amusement Co.

Witness also stated that the account of the Far Eastern Amusement Co., in which Mr. Morgan is said to have had a share, was opened on January 12 last year. At December 31, the account stood at seven dollars and three cents and the account still stood at that figure. Witness also identified Mr. Morgan's and Chow's signatures on cheques drawn on this account. Further evidence was given by a Japanese subject of Formosan extraction, whose testimony was taken through two interpreters, one interpreting from English into Japanese, and the other from Japanese into Formosan.

RECENT reports of the sudden appearance of Outer Mongolian cavalry corps and armoured cars in Pailingmiao, Suiyuan, have caused great panic among the Inner Mongolians, says a dispatch to the "Sin Wen Pao."

THE total number of workers in the U.S.A. on the W.P.A. relief roll for the week ending January 22 was 1,831,961, reaching a new high for the current fiscal year. The figures showed an increase of 64,524 relief workers over the previous week.

AMONGST the passengers who left London on December 31 by the ss. Comorin bound for Shanghai were Mrs. Cheetham; Mrs. H. F. Cranfield and two children; Mrs. G. Hargreaves; Mrs. Heath; Mrs. E. Hill; Miss M. Walton; Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Horridge and infant; Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Partridge and Messrs. A. G. Cameron and L. H. Peachey.

THE marriage of Miss Evangeline Brewster, former wife of Leopold Stokowski, internationally known symphony orchestra conductor, to Prince Alexis Zalstem-Zalessky in Phoenix, Ariz., on January 27 was announced in Los Angeles that day. The couple immediately departed for an extended honeymoon. The destination was not announced, however.

THE Minister of Transport, Mr. Edward Burgin, is considering a lengthy report on London's future highway development, prepared by Sir Charles Bressey and Edwin Lutyens. The report is a comprehensive volume embodying far-reaching proposals which, in due course, will be submitted for the observation of the highway authorities of the Greater London area. It examines the needs of London's transport during the next quarter of a century.

THE Director of the Generalissimo's Headquarters in Chungking, General Ho Kuo-kwang, accompanied by a provincial military leader in Szechuen, General Pan Wen-hua, arrived in Chengtu from Chungking by air yesterday, states a Chinese message to the local press. Those who fail to register, it is stated, will be regarded as having resigned of their own accord.

MAJOR-GENERAL Giga, Japanese Special Service Officer in North China, died on January 24 following a brief illness, states a dispatch to the "Sin Wen Pao." The demise of the officer, who gave strong support to the head of the East Hopei Autonomous Government, Mr. Chih Tsungmo, in his fight for the retention of that regime in spite of the advent of the "Provisional Government" in Peiping, will, it is expected, now clear the way for the incorporation of the former in the latter, it is reported.

DR. Wang Chung-hui, the Foreign Minister, was the guest of honour at a dinner on Thursday evening at the Hankow Club given by the Cosmopolitan Club. Originally formed in Peiping for the promotion of international friendship this, organization now has branches in Hankow and other Chinese cities. More than 100 people attended the function, including the American Ambassador, Mr. Nelson T. Johnson, and the leading British, French, American, German officials and residents. Niagara Falls Bridge Crashes Under Ice Jam

Engineers Trying to Save Structure, Saved

CANADIAN POWER PLANT STILL IN DANGER

Niagara Falls, Jan. 27.

A score of workmen and engineers narrowly escaped death here to-day when the famous Falls View Bridge collapsed under the strain of a record breaking 70-foot ice jam a short distance below Niagara Falls.

The 1,200-foot bridge collapsed with a deafening roar only ten minutes after officials of the International Railway Company had decided that damage to the bridge was so great that it was not worth saving and had called their engineers and workmen out of the gorge.

Ice meanwhile continued to envelope a hydro-electric plant on the Canadian side of the Falls and threatened to carry the building away. Authorities continued to hope for colder weather which they believed might save the building. The power plant was forced to suspend operations early yesterday.—United Press.

Night's Work Proves Vain

New York, Jan. 28.

In the presence of a large crowd of people, the twenty engineers last night faced death as they lowered ropes, in the glare of searchlights, to brace the weakened and twisted girders of the structure. Their efforts, however, proved in vain when the bridge gave way under pressure of the heaviest ice-jam in 30 years.—Reuter.

"ALI BABA GOES TO TOWN"

Ali Baba	Eddie Cantor
Yusuf	Tony Martin
Sultan	Roland Young
Princess Miriam	June Lang
Sultana	Louise Hovick
Ishak	John Carradine
Dinah	Virginia Field
Boland	Alan Dinehart
Prince Musah	Douglas Dumbrille

The final sentence of the programme's version of "Ali Baba Goes To Town," which opened at the Grand Theatre yesterday, runs:—"The conclusion is a surpriseful Cantornado of fun." This belongs in a certain famous New York magazine's "Department of Understatement," for Mr. Cantor's latest picture is a riot of fun from beginning to end. Like all his previous pictures, it has laughs without number, songs without peer, beauty without equal in Hollywood extravaganza. But more—it has satire, rich satire, and subtle satire at that. No American, be he Republican or Democrat, should miss this picture, for all through it the New Deal, the W.P.A. and other alphabetical organizations, the judges of the Supreme Court, yes, even the President himself, are presented in a manner often seen on the stage, but seldom on the screen. It took Mr. Cantor to show how it should be done; other studios please copy. Are there any new songs? Of course there are, it wouldn't be an "Eddie Cantor picture" if there were not; since they are by that sterling duo of song-writers, Gordon and Revel, further comment would be superfluous. "Ali Baba Goes to Town," there seems to be an opportunity here for some sort of a witticism, pun, call it what you will, linking up the words "all Shanghai" and "the Grand Theatre."

One of the two "shorts" is a well-photographed, appropriate travelogue all about Mongolia; the other is a newsreel which is equally good, one of its strongest points, at least from what appeared to be last night's audience's point of view, being Mr. "Tongue-Twisting" Lehr and his most original type of running commentary.—E.G.A.

William West	George Barbier
Gracey Kane	Bonita Graville
Aunt Ella	Spring Byington

Joyce's Maid	Valerie Bergere
Mrs. Hinkle	Sarah Edwards
Mr. Hinkle	Thomas Pogue
Mrs. Babson	Grace Fields
Mr. Babson	Harvey Clark
Mr. Kane	Ed Mortimer
Second Butler	Thomas Mills

That Mr. Leslie Howard can handle a comedy role with exceptional ability is conclusively proved in "It's Love I'm After," which opened yesterday at the Cathay Theatre. The dialogue of the picture was as witty, as daring and as full of surprises as in any picture seen here for a long while, and the supporting cast were strong foundation for the leading players. Mr. Howard is a perplexed Shakespearean actor, trying to help a stranger, and landing himself in the most complex situations. The causes of his trouble, the Misses Olivia de Havilland and Bette Davis, are respectively doting and hard-boiled, and both are excellent. Mr. Eric Elore makes the most diverting remarks, the while pulling a series of staggering faces, as the "gentleman's gentleman." As was generally expected, this picture is a huge success. —R.G.W.

HOUSES GUTTED BY FIRE IN CHINGCHOW ROAD

A Chinese house was gutted and two neighbouring houses were damaged by fire at 8.24 p.m. yesterday in Lane No. 477, Chingchow Road. The houses involved were Nos. 74, 76, and 78. Machines from the Yangtszepoo Fire Station responded to the alarm and had the fire under control within a little over an hour. In the afternoon, machines from the Central Fire Station turned out to tackle a fire at a book store at 220 Nanking Road. Only some sawdust and coal were found alight in the boiler room at the premises and it was easily extinguished with buckets of water.

They tossed away their cigarettes, hired a taxi-cab and overtook the runaway locomotive at Oyieres, the next station.—United Press.

WATCH PRESENTED TO MR. SINCLAIR

Police Turn out en Masse to Honour Superintendent

COMMISSIONER SPEAKS AT FUNCTION

The Shanghai Municipal Police turned out in force last night to a farewell presentation to Supt. J. Sinclair, who has just retired from the Force after thirty years' service. An inscribed gold watch with gold chain and a travelling clock were given to the popular officer at the Police Club in the presence of several score members of the Foreign Branch representing all ranks.

Maj. F. W. Gerrard, Commissioner of Police, made the speech of presentation and in happy phrases described his contacts with Supt. Sinclair. Maj. Gerrard said Mr. Sinclair was one of the first police officials whom he met on arriving in Shanghai and that he was thoroughly impressed at once with his knowledge of police matters and his efficiency. Supt. Sinclair, the Commissioner said, was a credit to himself and to the Police Force and had enjoyed a spotless record since the time he joined the organization. Maj. Gerrard mentioned that Mr. Sinclair had averaged a day off a year because of illness during his thirty years in Shanghai.

A special point was made by the Commissioner of Mr. Sinclair's services during the last five months in the troublous Eastern district, where he had headed a gallant band of policemen since August 18 in the most dangerous and exacting circumstances.

Supt. Sinclair replied cordially, touching upon the friendships he had made in the Force during his long association with it.

Certificate of Service

Besides the presentations from fellow members of the Police, a certificate showing Mr. Sinclair's long connection with the S.M.P. was handed to him.

Among the many who attended the function were Mr. S. C. Young, Deputy Commissioner of Police; Mr. R. C. Aiers, Deputy Commissioner; Mr. T. Robertson, Assistant Commissioner; Mr. R. W. Yorke, Assistant Commissioner; Mr. G. W. Gilbert, Assistant Commissioner; Mr. H. D. M. Robertson, Assistant Commissioner; Supts. R. J. Crouch, W. Robertson and J. Mason; Chief Inspectors J. W. Prince, R. Shellswell, J. B. Clissold, C. Bishop, D. B. Ross and H. R. Grubb; Inspectors R. C. Andrew, J. M. Watson, C. G. Phillips, O. B. Perkins, E. J. Ling, F. E. Dudley, G. J. Bennett, C. White, B. Palmer, G. Crawford, W. Hutton, E. G. Trodd and J. Smith.

WORLD REACTIONS TO REPORT

Germany Wishes Success: But Italy Cold

London, Jan. 28.

The consensus of reaction here to the proposals of M. Paul van Zeeland, former Belgian Premier, on means of stimulating world trade indicates that much protracted and patient preparation is necessary if any results whatsoever are to be achieved.

The British Government, it is understood, is prepared to play its part if other nations will join in exploring the feasibility of a formal international meeting.

However, the formidable nature of the difficulties have been brought out by typical newspaper comment, for example the impossibility of reconciling totalitarian internal economy with the international machinery of free trade. There is also the difficulty of ensuring that any new international credits shall not be used for armaments.

It is generally emphasized that the present problems cannot be solved in classical economic terms, but are fundamentally political, though, as the "Daily Telegraph" remarks, in exposing the dangers, M. van Zeeland may have evoked a will to avert them.

The "News-Chronicle" is of the opinion that if dictators are unwilling to play their part, democracies alone should follow out the plan of M. van Zeeland.

Washington Reserved

Comment on M. van Zeeland's report was withheld by the U.S. Secretary of State, Mr. Cordell Hull, says Reuter from Washington, until he had studied it.

However, he paid tribute to M van Zeeland in making a valuable contribution to the problems with which he had undertaken to deal.

On the other hand, some observers in Washington think that M. van Zeeland has made too light of the profound ideological cleavages in international affairs.

They point out that the United States cainnot meddle in world distresses, which, they contend, are inseparably linked with internal policies.

The American electorate, they assert, would at the present moment veto economic succour to Japan, probably even to Germany, and possibly refuse to endorse credits for the benefit of war debt defaulters.

Germany's Good Wishes

An authoritative spokesman wished M. Zeeland's report success, says Reuter from Berlin.

Germany, he said, would not place any obstacles in the way, but the next step rested with Great Britain and France, not Germany.

Authoritative French circles draw attention to the advisability of signatories to the Tripartite Monetary Agreement acting in unison on the van Zeeland report, says Reuter from Paris.

Political circles there, however, emphasize the fact that political problem are the prime factor existing in the situation.

Italy's reception to M. Zeeland's report was cold.—Reuter.

France to Join World Arms Race For Big Warships

Credits to Be Sought for Fifty New Vessels

COUNTER-MOVE TO NAVY PLANNED BY ITALY

Paris, Jan. 27.

Official notification of France's intention of joining in the worldwide naval construction race, was given here to-day with the announcement that funds would be sought to provide construction of fifty new warships in 1938 to meet Italian naval expansion.

The Naval Commission of the Chamber of Deputies has agreed unanimously to demand passage of a naval credit bill to provide for the construction of the new warships, M. Jean Renaitour, a member of the Commission, announced.

France, with only seven battleships and most of them ancient, would be at a definite disadvantage in the new European naval alignment, particularly vis-a-vis Italy, unless large scale naval construction is undertaken this year, naval experts here pointed out.

Troubled conditions in the Far East and Europe, it was believed, would add weight to the demands of the Naval Commission and probably result in an enlarged naval construction programme by France in the near future.—United Press.

Nanking Sentry "Doing Duty" in Slapping Consul

a Japanese soldier who takes such action in his own hands?—The sentry was doing his duty. Anyone not obeying the orders of a sentry can be shot."

"What was the apology for, then? —It was a gesture taken in the direction of courtesy towards an Embassy official. Immediately after this unfortunate affair Mr. Allison called at the Japanese Consulate to make representations. In addition to the military police with Mr. Allison was a Japanese consular policeman. Reports were filed independently by the consular man and the gendarmes to their higher authorities and although there is a slight discrepancy between Mr. Allison's statement and that of the consular policeman and the gendarmes, the Japanese authorities so far feel that there is no reason for doubting the accuracy of the report made by the consular policeman and the gendarmes."

"The fact that Mr. Allison had made detailed representations had nothing to do with the fact that he got slapped?—This had nothing to do with Mr. Allison's former actions. It was an incident that was spontaneous, on the spot."

Asked whether the Japanese authorities had requested the recall of Mr. Allison from Nanking, or what other steps were being taken in view of the fact that the military authorities were taking such "a serious view," the spokesman said:—"We are not aware of any steps that may be taken."

ZERO CLUB MEETS AT DINNER

Tributes Paid to Work of British Navy and Army

H.M. CHARGE D'AFFAIRES REPLIES FOR GUESTS

Tributes were paid in a quiet way to representatives of the Shanghai Defence Force at the annual dinner of the Zero Club last night, held at the Shanghai Club. Representatives of the British Navy and Army in Shanghai were present, and it was generally regretted that Major-General A. P. D. Telfer-Smollett was unable to be there on account of his injury while riding.

Among the official guests were Mr. R. G. Howe, H.M. Charge d'Affaires, Mr. Herbert Phillips, H.M. Consul-General, the Commanding Officers of the Royal Welch Fusiliers, the Loyal Regiment, The 1st Battalion, The Durham Light Infantry, H.M.S. Grimsby, H.M.S. Scarab, H.M.S. Ladybird, Dean A. C. S. Trivett, and the Chairman of the Shanghai Club, Mr. W. J. Monk.

One of the cheeriest gatherings which has ever met on one of these occasions listened to a heartening speech by General Macnaghten in which he cited the travels of Marco Polo, Ulysses, and Gulliver, and drew a parallel from these to the events which have been occurring in Shanghai during the last few months. He instanced St. Paul as an example of the difficulties which sea-faring people in this part of the world might be prepared to encounter, but said that nowadays modern navigators could be expected to avoid such shipwrecks as those which were inevitable in that primitive stage of navigation. He concluded by paying a tribute to the efficiency of the Navy and the discipline generally observed. He said that the Army was owed a debt of gratitude for the work that they had done on the border of the Settlement.

"A few days ago I was asked to a meal by the Japanese, at which a Japanese soldier said to me 'the English soldier is a gentleman.'"

So far as the S.V.C. was concerned he praised the discipline and the organization. For Dean Trivett, one of the guests of honour, he said that possibly the Grace that he had said before the meeting was sufficient introduction.

Mr. Howe Replies

Mr. Howe, the Charge d'Affaires, in replying on behalf of the guests, dilated upon the honour they felt for having been asked to such an unique occasion. In an amusing manner he illustrated the way in which the Navy, Army and S.V.C. had contributed to the general handling of the situation.

Commander H. F. Nalder replied for the British Navy and Colonel J. W. Horney on behalf of the British Army and the S.V.C.

French Labour Code Approved By Ministers

Arbitration, Right to Work and Unions Accorded

BIG STEP FOR ENSURING SOCIAL PEACE TAKEN

Paris, Jan. 27.

Liberty to work and liberty for trades unions are both guaranteed under a new labour code approved to-day by the Council of Ministers.

Sponsored by Mr. Camille Chautemps, the Premier, the code is composed of six separate bills, and is said to constitute the first, and perhaps the most important, act of the Government's programme to assure social peace.

The bills, among other things, provide that all strikes shall, with the shortest possible delay, be submitted to a secret ballot, and that the majority vote must be accepted. If the vote favours a strike, the differences between employers and employed must be submitted to arbitration.

If a vote against a strike or if an arbitral decision is not executed, sanctions will be taken against those who may be held responsible for interfering with liberty to work, and especially, for any occupation of factories.

M. Chautemps broadcast this evening an appeal to the French nation to cease industrial strife and to support the Cabinet's new labour code. —Reuter.

HANKOW CITY MAY BE BOMBED

Japanese Claim Batteries in Residential Areas

Bombs may be dropped in the built-up sections of Hankow by Japanese naval aircraft seeking to destroy anti-aircraft batteries recently scattered throughout the residential and business sections of the city, a Japanese naval spokesman hinted yesterday.

In their attack on the Hankow military aerodrome on Thursday morning, Japanese raiders were subjected to intensive fire from anti-aircraft guns and machine-guns located in the built-up sections of Hankow, the spokesman alleged. Hitherto, Chinese batteries were located near military establishments outside the town.

Japanese bombers meticulously avoided attacks upon Chinese cities, aiming only at military objectives, the spokesman emphasized.

Big Chinese New Year Holiday Programme of Sports

SECOND PAPERHUNT WILL BE HELD TO-MORROW

Rugger, Hockey, Soccer Spread Over Four Days: Dog Racing Starting To-day at Canidrome

IMPORTANT GAMES AROUSING INTEREST

A WEALTH of sports in Shanghai has been arranged for the Chinese New Year holiday period, beginning to-day and carrying on right through to Wednesday. Big programmes will attract crowds to rugger, soccer and hockey matches to-day, to-morrow, Monday and Tuesday, while another branch of interest is concerned chiefly with the second paperhunt of the local season which will be held to-morrow morning. Basketball and inter-firm mixed hockey also will have their share of the sportlight, and the Canidrome announces the resumption of official dog-racing this afternoon, to be continued to-morrow, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons.

The return rugby battle to-morrow afternoon between the Durham Light Infantry 1st XV and the Shanghai Rugby Union Football Club 1st. XV is the chief item of interest in a programme of six matches. The last time the two teams met, the soldiers won by a decisive margin, but the Club are out to show that they will be real threats in the forthcoming Spunt Cup competition.

Skottowe Cup semi-finals head an imposing soccer programme. To-morrow morning at the Canidrome, the Loyals are favoured to push on to the final at the expense of Sokol, while on Monday morning on the same field, the A.S.F. will meet the Durhams in the other bracket. Two First Division matches and Tze Ling Cup semi-finals will support the main soccer attractions. All matches begin at 3 p.m. unless otherwise stated.

A heavy hockey schedule is featured by the match to be played on Monday afternoon between the Loyals, local champions, and the massed power of Shanghai's civilian teams. The game will mark an effort on the part of local stick-wielders to put a stop somehow to the winning streak of the strong Loyals' eleven. More on the amusing side will be the mixed hockey affray on Monday morning between the Imperial Chemical Industries and the Telephone Company.

The Second Hunt is to be restricted to "Y" Class ponies. The trail will be laid by the Master, N. L. Sparke, with Marshall Bolton and R. Morgan. Riders will again meet at the Columbia Riding School, to-morrow morning. Arrangements are being made to have another hunt on Wednesday.

RACING IS RESUMED AT CANIDROME

Greyhounds to Run in Events of Special Interest

1,000-YARD MARATHON TO BE HELD

Co-incident with special Spring Festival meetings, the Canidrome announces the resumption of official racing this afternoon with a programme of fifteen events starting promptly at 2.30 p.m. Meetings will be held again on Sunday, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons at the same hour.

Official race meetings were suspended at the French Concession dog-racing track at the outbreak of hostilities last year but the interest of the public was kept alive within a few weeks, until now, by means of "official public trials." Those proved popular but the management believe the time now ripe to make an effort to get back to normal.

One or two special attractions are being provided during the Chinese New Year holidays. On Tuesday afternoon, three heats will be decided in the "Spring Festival Trophy," over 500 yards flat, for high-class greyhounds. First and second dog in each heat will meet again the following afternoon in the final which will be stretched to 525 yards, thereby increasing the difficulty of finding the ultimate winner.

Marathon Race

Coupled with the final of the Trophy race will be the Canidrome's second thousand-yard marathon to be held within a year. This spectacular and unusual distance event on the last occasion attracted unprecedented crowds to the Canidrome and the race resulted in one of the greatest tussles ever seen on the local track, Mary Dale (a bitch) outstaying some of the best dogs of the course in 61.36 seconds, time which is likely to be beaten by the winner of next Wednesday's marathon.

Several improvements in the public accommodation have taken place during the past few months, particular attention having been paid to the bars on both floors, which now contain steam-heat and special parimutuel services.

APOSTOLI TO FIGHT YOUNG CORBETT

Deadly Rivals to Meet on February 22

San Francisco, Jan. 26.

Fred Apostoli, conqueror of world middleweight champion Freddie Steele, is to fight Young Corbett III, former welterweight titleholder, outdoors here on February 22, it was announced to-day.

Young Corbett, who hails from Fresno, California, and Apostoli, who is a local lad, are both American-Italians and are deadly rivals, having already met early last year with the local battler showing an edge.

Apostoli is regarded as the middleweight champion to-day with no belt to prove official recognition. Only on January 7 he outclassed the title-holder, Steele, scoring a T.K.O. in the ninth round. He gave Steele the worst beating that the champion had ever suffered in his career.

The "Belting Bell Hop," as he is popularly known here, also gained prestige in the eyes of sports critics by scoring a technical knockout over Marcel Thil, European middleweight champion and one of the cleverest fighters to-day, in the September Carnival of Champions.

Steele is also down to fight in February. He is to meet Carmen Barth, Henry Armstrong's stablemate, at Cleveland on February 19.—United Press.

PASTOR KNOCKS TRACY OUT IN SECOND

New York, Jan. 25.

Bob Pastor, whose greatest claim to fame in the squared arena is that he lasted a bout against Joe Louis, world champion, by running away so fast that the negro actually tired, to-night came back into the spotlight by knocking Buck Tracy out in the second of a planned eight-round battle. Pastor had an easy time with his unknown and inexperienced opponent, knocking him down four times. He weighed 184½ and Tracy 180.

A SHORTAGE OF GOLF CADDIES

Owing to the fact that caddies of the Hungjao Golf Club are engaged in the more profitable business of bringing produce into the Settlement, their services are not as freely available as in the past. Members are warned that if they must have a caddy, it would be wisest to bring a servant along to the course.

SHELAEFF TO FIGHT HENRY AGAIN

Harbin Wonder Boy Will Defend Title Feb. 5

Manila, Jan. 28.

Andre Shelaeff, who climbed to the Oriental Welterweight championship over the prostrate body of Clever Henry last Saturday night, will defend the newly won crown against the former titleholder on February 5 at the Rizal Memorial Stadium, it was announced to-day.

February 5 was selected as the night that the Harbin Boy Wonder should receive the championship belt from the hands of Field Marshall Douglas MacArthur, Military Adviser to the Commonwealth of the Philippines, but he willingly agreed that it should also mark the first defence of his title.

Recovered from the terrible blows which had flattened him in the third round, Henry hurled a challenge at the youthful Russian for a return bout.

Unlike most champions, the heavy-hitting Harbin youth immediately took up the gauntlet. The Russian lad said that he was only too glad to accommodate the Filipino. He pointed out that he had nothing to fear. He had knocked out the veteran Filipino champion once and he could do it again, probably even in shorter time if the former champion would stand up and fight.

NO LONGER A "WILD HORSE"

The pony depicted is Trojan, which was sold as a "Wild horse", incapable of being ridden, from the Hongkong Jockey Club stables some three years ago. The pony was taken in hand recently be Capt. Litvinoff in Hongkong, with the result that Trojan not only behaves, but has learned to perform tricks. In the above picture, Trojan is seen executing a "passage" to the left, ridden by Capt. Litvinoff who is to give riding lessons in Shanghai.

BUCCANEERS FALTER IN LAST GAME

Dismal End of Season: Now in Third Position

ALL BLACKS TRIUMPH IN SECOND GAME

The Buccaneers, ex-champions in basketball for the past eight years, made a poor exit from this season's Invitation League when they lost to Marine Golds last night by a score of 36-35. It took the Marines an extra period of five minutes to upset the pirates, who were in dismal form last night.

Bob Biesel, one of the mainstays on the Buccaneers team, was absent, and this was mainly responsible for the surprising defeat. The pirates are now in third position in the final standing since they have lost three times out of a total of eight matches.

The Golds played a tight game for three-quarters of the fight. In the first ten minutes they allowed their opponents to lead by 8-7, but then the team suddenly slackened and trailed by 19-9 at the end of the first period. Upon resumption a rally occurred and through strenuous efforts, the Golds drew up to 27 all before the match had gone into the fourth quarter. Finally, when there were less than thirty seconds left to play and the score was 31 all, the Golds lost the opportunity to win because of the failure of Johns to convert a certain goal right under the basket without any one to bother him.

Nevertheless, the ex-champions were doomed to lose for in the extra session none of the top-notchers could find his feet. Dobrenky, a junior player on the Cubs team who replaced Bernard, was the only one to score in tallying two pretty shots. But the efforts were spoiled as the Marines had been rewarded with a foul toss in addition to two field baskets.

All Blacks Triumph

In a second senior tussle the All Blacks triumphed over Tien Heng by a count of 35-27. Except for the first five minutes, during which Tien Heng put up a stubborn fight and held their rivals to a tie of 7-7, the Blacks proved much more thrustful and led in the initial period by 22-16. During the ensuing half the losers rallied twice and were within two points to cause further deadlock. But the victors successfully stemmed the threat and ran out by a comfortable margin.

R. B. ROACH ELECTED NEW CAPTAIN

Annual General Meeting of Rowing Club

The annual general meeting of the Shanghai Rowing Club was held last night at the Boathouse, there being a good attendance presided over by the retiring captain, R. G. Woodhead, who was supported by the outgoing committee. R. B. Roach was elected to the captaincy for the forthcoming year and C. N. Brown was elected to fill the office of vice-captain.

Despite the troubles during the past six months, the Rowing Club came through the period satisfactorily, and although their membership had shrunk, the accounts were in a satisfactory position, and the advent of rowing in the Soochow Creek in the recent months had tended to bring back rowing men for their exercises on these waters, it was reported.

Several problems were discussed, chief among these being the building of two new squash courts and, although no definite ways and means have been reached as yet, there is every reason to hope that these additions will provide the club with additional amenities for their members. A resolution was passed that members only be allowed to book courts three times a week, thereby giving those who had no opportunity to make daily bookings a chance to get games.

New Officers

The following were those elected to office for the season.

Captain: R. B. Roach. Vice-Captain: C. N. Brown. Hon. Treas. A. C. Sinclair. Hon. Sec. B. R. Stone. Committee: J. D. Davies, H. G. Fabian, G. G. Forrestier, C. S. Kimber, G. W. Morris, A. Pressler, J. Stewart Smith, W. Wagner.

Subsequent to the meeting, a large number of members sat down to an informal dinner at which the new captain made a speech, congratulating the retiring captain on his fine work during the year. In the earlier part of the meeting, a presentation was made to A. B. Wilkinson, a gift from the Club members on the occasion of his forthcoming marriage.

RIGGS WINS DIXIE TITLE

Tampa, Jan. 26.

Bobby Riggs, rising tennis star from Los Angeles, won the fourteenth annual Dixie title to-day by defeating Wayne Sabin of San Francisco, 6-3, 6-0, 7-5, in the men's singles finals. The youthful player showed masterful court strategy in keeping Sabin well subdued throughout the match. Sabin showed occasional flashes of form that enabled him to defeat Bryan Grant of Atlanta in the semi-finals yesterday.—United Press.

Death has occurred of Mr. Sandford Spence Storey, aged 80, who was a member of Lord Harris' cricket team that toured Australia in 1878-79.

BUDGE BEATS QUIST TO REACH FINAL

Wimbledon Champion Must Now Face Bromwich

Adelaide, Jan. 27.

Donald Budge, the American holder of the Wimbledon and American tennis championships, will meet John Bromwich, 19-year-old ambidexterous Australian, in the final of the Australian men's championship as a result of to-day's play.

The red-haired Californian took the measure of Quist in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2, 8-6, while Bromwich dealt similarly with Baron Gottfried von Cramm, the German ace, the score being 6-3, 7-5, 6-1. The German had previously defeated Vivian McGrath, the holder, by 6-2, 3-6, 4-6, 7-5, 6-0.

Women's Surprise

The final of the women's title will be contested between Miss Dorothy Stevenson, of Victoria, who eliminated Miss Nancy Wynne, the title-holder, by 6-3, 6-3, and Miss Dorothy Bundy, of America, who beat Mrs. Hopman, of Australia, by 6-2, 6-3.

Miss Stevenson is regarded as a possible winner of the Wimbledon championship, for which she is competing this year. Her win was a surprise, but the young Victorian thoroughly deserved her triumph.—Reuter.

S.M.C. EDUCATIONAL DEPT. REPORT

Extracts From the Annual Reports of the Various Council Schools

IN the concluding article of the Shanghai Municipal Council's Educational Department annual report, the Superintendent, Mr. L. C. Healy deals with the various Council schools under his charge. The foregoing is a summary from the annual reports of these schools and shows how the local hostilities have greatly interfered with scholastic studies and the heavy losses that have been sustained.

In the report of the Public School for Chinese it is stated that the preparation of a report for the current year has been rendered extremely difficult by reason of the fact that no school records are available. As a result of the outbreak of hostilities in the Shanghai area the school premises at 63 Haskell Road were evacuated on the morning of August 13, and from that date until October 26, this neighbourhood was the scene of intense fighting. At the time of writing, the Haskell Road area is inaccessible but such information as can be obtained leads to the presumption that the building has been severely damaged and its contents destroyed.

Conditions in the Autumn Term were naturally influenced by the situation existing locally when the school reopened on November 1. During October the names of pupils who wished to resume their studies were obtained; a total of 414 boys registered. Following this response temporary premises were secured in the Chinese Y. M. C. A. 599 Szechuen Road. The accommodation here was limited and part of it had to be shared with the Polytechnic School whose building was being used as a hospital. In consequence it was only possible to hold classes from 1 to 5 p.m. daily. A month after reopening the enrolment had reached 430. About 270 boys who in June had reserved places for the Autumn Term did not appear. Many of those had left Shanghai; a number, at a later date, signified their intention of returning to the school in 1938.

Destruction of School Library

As was inevitable with shortened hours of teaching and restricted facilities for instruction, the work of the school has been adversely affected and much ground has been lost, especially in those subjects which are studied progressively over a period of several years. Practical science had to be abandoned and very little physical training could be given. The destruction of the school library, founded in 1909, and in 1936 containing over 6,000 volumes, many of which cannot be replaced, is particularly regrettable and has proved a great loss to teachers and pupils.

Ellis Kadoorie School

At the Ellis Kadoorie Public School for Chinese, owing to the hostilities in the Shanghai area, the opening of the new school year was delayed until November 1, and the enrolment was 387 instead of the expected 500. Apart from the interruption in the Autumn Term, when two valuable months of the school year were lost, the work of the school has proceeded steadily. It is feared that the absence of facilities for laboratory practice will react detrimentally upon the general standards in these subjects in the near future.

At the end of the summer vacation the unrest occasioned by the local hostilities made it impossible to reopen the school on the scheduled date. The premises were subsequently occupied by U.S. defence-forces and by evacuated employees from other institutions until mid-October. The school building were then taken over by the Public Health Department to house the Municipal Police Hospital. Temporary premises were rented at 1107 Connaught Road, and the school was opened for the Autumn Term on November 1, the teaching hours being from 8 a.m. to noon. The temporary accommodation, which was shared with the Nieh Chih Kuei School, was found to be adequate for an enrolment of less than four hundred pupils, there being no facility for the teaching of special subjects such as practical science or art. These conditions obtained up to the end of the year under review.

Nieh Chih Kuei School

The outbreak of hostilities found the Nieh Chih Kuei Public School for Chinese in the heart of the troubled district and it was not until November that studies were resumed in temporary premises in Connaught Road for afternoon sessions only. The reduced number of school hours necessitated a modified curriculum and work was conducted under great difficulties. However, despite the handicap, studies are now proceeding more normally and it is anticipated that good results will be obtained.

Nothing occurred to impair the healthy tone prevailing in the school and despite the troubled times the general behaviour of the boys was excellent, and the maintenance of discipline an easy matter.

During the Summer vacation, up to the outbreak of hostilities, a large number of boys attended the Hongkew Park Open Air Swimming Pool during the thrice-weekly morning periods allocated to this school. Identification cards were issued to aid the teacher in charge, and some 300 boys applied for these. During July the weekly attendance averaged about 400 boys, and but for the untimely termination of the scheme a large number of swimmers would have been passed out at the end of August.

Polytechnic Public School

The building of the Polytechnic Public School for Chinese was taken over completely as a billet in August and later used by the Public Health Department as an Isolation Hospital for Chinese. This resulted in a severe disorganization of all spheres of school work; instead of re-opening on the proper date it was not until November 1 that temporary accommodation was found at the Chinese Y.M.C.A. and then only on a part time basis of four hours daily. Consequently there is very little comparison between the Spring and Autumn Terms of the year. In the Spring Term the school had a normal enrolment of 522. For the Autumn Term only 373 pupils returned, 307 old and 66 new boys. In the temporary building work was conducted under difficult conditions.

In addition, owing to lack of facilities, it was necessary to drop the following subjects—Manual Training; Practical Work in Physics, Chemistry, and Biology; Singing and Physical Exercises. There being only six periods per day, instead of the usual eight, it was also necessary to cut down the time devoted to several other subjects.

Secondary School for Chinese Girls

The Headmistress of the Secondary School for Chinese Girls reports that the enrolment for the Spring Term was 471, with an average attendance of 94 per cent. The prospect of enrolling 500 pupils in the Autumn was evidenced by the number of applications for admission, 79 being selected at an entrance examination at which there were 209 candidates. Even with the local disturbances the number on roll maintained the high level of 374 children.

The general health of the school was very satisfactory. Special attention was devoted to the physical condition of the girls especially in regard to the care of the eyes, ears, teeth and skin. To the teacher of hygiene was assigned the task of checking individual health records and advising pupils too consult dentists or physicians where necessary.

The course of study during the Autumn Term was limited to four hours daily divided into five periods of 45 minutes each or 30 periods a week. This number corresponds to that prevailing during normal times for whole day sessions. A few subjects such as citizenship, morning mass drill and certain extra-curriculum work have been eliminated for the time being while the usual physical activities have been curtailed.

The total enrolment at the Council's Schools for Chinese in June, 1937, was 8,627, as against 8,206 in 1936.

Extracts From Foreign School Reports

At the Public and Thomas Hanbury School for Boys, 18 pupils were successful in the Cambridge School Certificate Examination, and of these 14 satisfied the requirements of London University and obtained exemption from the London Matriculation Examination. In the Junior Examination 11 pupils passed. These results were extremely satisfactory showing a 90 per cent. pass in the case of the Seniors and 78 per cent. for the Junior Candidates. In the London Chamber of Commerce examinations 18 boys sat and obtained certificates in various subjects. The results of the Royal Drawing Society were also very satisfactory, all candidates passing. Of these, one pupil was awarded a special prize and four obtained the full certificate in all grades. Other successes included 14 passes in the Chinese Language Examinations, held at the British Consulate by the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, and two internal awards—a George Lanning Scholarship and the H.O. White Bursary awarded to the boy who has made most all-round progress.

Owing to the outbreak of hostilities access to the school was impossible after August 13. In September and October, through the kindness of the Secretary and Committee, the Y.M.C.A was used for special classes for the examination forms. These were continued until the opening of school in the premises of the Shanghai American School, Avenue Petain, in November. Here classes for all grades were held, in the afternoons only.

Western District Public School

The most memorable fact in the history of the school during 1937—apart from the major interruption of the Autumn Term—was that it attained maturity. All the nine grades, junior and secondary, that the organization allows were represented; and the senior form left school at the end of the year. In consonance with this growth, the school was renamed the Western District Public School.

The erection of a combined gymnasium and assembly hall was sanctioned, and by December it was completely built, though not fully equipped. A playing field, near by in Tifeng Road, was also allotted to the school. With these additions, there is every prospect of arranging a course of physical education, indoor and outdoor, in the near future.

Academic successes were gratifying. One pupil won the first place in the St. George's Scholarship examination. At the examinations of the Royal Drawing Society, all the 64 candidates gained honours, two gained full certificates, and one a prize—a noteworthy result. Two pupils were entered for the first Chinese examination of the British Chamber of Commerce; both passed well in a test that is recognized by the London School of Oriental Studies. Thirteen pupils sat for the Cambridge School Certificate examination in December, with results not yet announced. Two Henry Lester Scholarships were awarded to pupils of the school. The school has won five of these valuable scholarships in five years.

Yu Yuen Road Girls School

Public School for Girls, Yu Yuen Road.—Owing to the hostilities there was a 35 per cent. reduction in enrolment for the Autumn Term. The largest number failing to attend belonged to the Kindergarten department, probably due to the temporary conduct of these classes in the afternoons.

The most important addition to the curriculum was the introduction of Cookery which was made possible by the completion of the new Domestic Science centre in April. As the school year ends in June it was difficult to introduce the subject generally. Four classes, however, had the opportunity of using the Cookery room. A special 10 weeks course was prepared for the sixth Form to enable girls to leave school with a knowledge of plain household cookery. The new handwork room in the same wing allowed of a much more extensive development of this branch of educational work.

The curriculum was curtailed during the Autumn Term owing to the shorter 4 hour day. The simplest arrangement to meet the emergency was the amalgamation of the two schools and the sub-division into senior and junior departments attending morning or afternoon sessions at the Shanghai American and Kaiser Wilhelm Schools.

Of 17 candidates entered for the Cambridge School Certificate Examination 9 were successful, 5 with London Matriculation exemption. Twelve of the 15 entries in the Junior examination secured passes. The results of the Royal Drawing Society Examination were very gratifying. Fifty-seven of the 59 candidates received certificates, 44 with honours while 2 obtained the full certificates. Among other awards was a George Lanning Scholarship at the June examination.

Public and Thomas Hanbury School for Girls.—Commencing with Form V Lower, pupils are permitted to select one of three courses—those whose ambition lies in the direction of domestic work being given special tuition in home training which includes hygiene, cooking, nursing and the care of a house and children, while those who have a commercial bias concentrate on bookkeeping and general business subjects.

Four pupils from the school entered for the Cambridge Junior Examination held in December 1936; all were successful. Two of these candidates will attempt the School Certificate Examination at the Hongkong centre. Of 4 girls entered for the Junior in December 1937 only one remains owing to the evacuation following the recent local disturbances.

Yulin Road Girls School

Public School for Girls, Yulin Road. The curriculum which aims at the preparation of boys and girls for entry into the senior schools comprizes the usual lower school subjects. In the kindergarten children from four years of age are admitted and taught through the medium of games valuable lessons which to the uninitiated observer would appear to have very little instructive value. Obedience, good manners, unselfishness, the formation of good habits and orderly ways, are emphasized from the beginning and even in this, the lowest class, the attributes of good citizenship are fostered. In the two transition forms work becomes more formal, with daily lessons in Reading, Writing and Arithmetic, and an endeavour is made to get children to be self-reliant and to use their own powers of reasoning. Handwork continues to be important and Singing and Poetry are included in the week's work. In Form I the children complete the last years of their preparatory stage and are trained for the wider sphere of the junior school. The average age of this class is 9½ years. In an essay competition arranged by the N.S.P.C.A. the whole of Form I were entered, successes being gained by three of the pupils.

Swedish Drill, folk dancing and organized games continue to figure on the time table. Netball has also been added to the sports programme during the year.

The enrolment at the Council's Schools for foreign children in June, 1937, was 1,469.

Nationality of Pupils

Of the 38 nationalities represented in an enrolment of 1,469 children in June, 1937, 44 per cent. of the total are of British parentage, 19 per cent Russian, 7 per cent. American, 5 per cent. Portuguese, and 2 per cent. German, while the remaining 23 per cent. belong to 33 other nationalities.

REFUGEE COLONIES IMPRACTICAL

Red Cross Consider Question Of Settlements

HIGHER DEATH RATE EXAMINED

The weekly meeting of the Refugee Committee of the Shanghai International Red Cross was held, under the chairmanship of Father Jacquinot, on Wednesday evening.

The questions of colonization, repatriation and rehabilitation were further discussed. Following investigations which have been made among the refugee population of the camps it has been ascertained that there is not a large number of refugees who would be either willing or available for transportation to such far distant fields as Kiangsi or Kwangsi for purposes of colonization. Another aspect of the question, which has become emphasized, is the inadvisability of transporting to a distance skilled labour, either agricultural or industrial, which will be very much needed when rehabilitation of the Shanghai devastated areas becomes a possibility. With this further information the Committee, whilst in full sympathy with those organizations which are already undertaking this work on a small scale, felt that they could not sponsor such a venture at this time.

Conditions in the country around Shanghai at present are not favourable to a large scale repatriation effort, but the Committee decided that the time was ripe to put the preparatory work for repatriation and rehabilitation into effect on their programme.

Increased Death Rate

The disturbing fact of the increased death rate among the refugees was discussed. From the information available it was shown that the main contributing factor was the measles epidemic, at present prevailing, which had resulted in a high mortality rate among the children. Other forms of prevalent disease are claiming victims, but as far as the refugee camp population is concerned neither starvation nor cold are responsible for the high death rate. The Medical Committee is dealing with the epidemics prevalent and it is hoped that a considerable reduction in the number of deaths among children and adults will shortly be recorded.

The Visitors Committee was asked to furnish fuller information at the next meeting, regarding the deaths occurring among the street and alley refugee population. When this information is available the Committee will consider possible steps within their means to alleviate the situation. Further appeals for subsidies in the way of food supplies, were considered from camp supporting societies who are now nearing the end of their resources. These were referred for investigation and provided such prove satisfactory the Committee will be prepared to make them grants of food. Food supplies until the end of February have been ordered and paid for by the Committee and fresh orders for March supplies were authorized.

Reorganization Of Szechuen Is Meeting Trouble

Provincial Attitude Still Favours Isolation

GOVERNMENT'S POLICIES TO BE EXPLAINED

Hankow, Jan. 28.

Rumours that the Chinese Government is meeting with difficulties in reorganizing the Szechuen provincial administration are described by Chinese circles here to-day as "exaggerated."

It is admitted that, since Szechuen has been isolated from other parts of China for centuries, it is impossible to expect a complete change in the attitude of the province overnight. Some obstacles, it is pointed out, are bound to crop up in the course of reorganization.

In order to explain to Szechuen leaders the policy of the Central Government, General Ho Chung-han, accompanied by important Szechuen commanders and officials, flew to Chengtu from Chungking yesterday.

Advice Offered

In a leading article to-day on the situation in Szechuen, the "Ta Kung Pao" offers some "advice to the Szechuen people."

It emphasizes that the most notable recent progress in China has been the unification of the country as well as the enforcement of the orders of the Central Government throughout the nation.

During the present crisis, the newspaper states, "any disobedience or modification of Government orders will inevitably lessen China's power of resistance. We hope that the Szechuen people will adopt a national outlook and abandon their previous attitude of considering Szechuen as a separate unit.

"We of the press have no other policy than one of concern for the country's welfare. We love our country and we love the Szechuen people, and it is for these reasons that we dare to offer such straightforward advice."—Reuter.

CHINESE STUDENTS IN GERMANY

Charlottenburg College Gives Entertainment

Berlin, Jan. 28.

About ninety young Chinese students, who are studying in Berlin, were guests at a reception given yesterday evening by the Charlottenburg Technical College and the Academic Foreign Organization—Charlottenburg at the Student House.

The gathering was presided over by Baron von Arnim, Rector of the Technical College, and the Chinese Ambassador, Dr. Cheng Tien-Fang, the Counsellor of the Embassy, Mr. Tan, and the Chinese military attache Col. Hsu Pei-Chau, as well as the chairman of the Chinese Students Association, Mr. Tao Tse-Kei, were among the guests. Among the prominent Germans present were several high officials of the German Foreign Ministry and of the foreign political office of the National Socialist party —Trans-Ocean.

ARDEER EXPLOSION KILLS NINE

Women among Workers Blown Up in Munition Factory

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

London, Jan. 28.

Nine workers, including a woman, were killed and about a dozen injured shortly after 4 p.m. yesterday at Ardeer, known as Scotland's Woolwich, as the result of an explosion in the blasting department of one of the largest explosives factories in Britain.

The explosion wrecked many houses but, apart from the immediate area of the explosion, the damage was slight.

People living in the locality heard two tremendous reports. Terrified women and children, dashing into the streets from their shaking houses, saw the sky illuminated by a huge sheet of flame, followed by a huge cloud of smoke.

The cause of the explosion is unknown, and as all the occupants of the mixing house have perished, may not be ascertained.—Reuter.

MR. SUN FO IS TO RETURN

Rumours Regarding Moscow Visit Denied

Hankow, Jan. 28.

The widespread rumours that the trip of Mr. Sun Fo, President of the Legislative Yuan, to Moscow was to negotiate an agreement with Soviet Russia or concerning Outer Mongolia, were vigorously denied to-day by a spokesman of the Chinese Government.

The spokesman described these reports as being "entirely without foundation."

He also described as "unfounded" the rumours that Mr. Sun Fo would be appointed Chinese Ambassador to Russia. Mr. Sun Fo's present post of President of the Legislative Yuan, he said, was an important one, and his duties would not permit of a lengthy absence from China.

Mr. Sun Fo, the spokesman added, recently toured various cities in Europe in order "to improve his own knowledge of conditions in Europe."—Reuter.

The American Consul-General in Sydney has notified the Australian Government that, following Australia's decision to abolish import restrictions on American goods, Australian products will henceforth enter the United States under most-favoured-nation treatment.—Reuter.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE

Thursday's Closing Quotations

London, Jan. 27.

Fairly steady conditions prevailed to-day, despite the overnight break on Wall Street. Support for Kaffirs from a finance house was offset by Paris selling. International issues were weak, but then recovered partially. Industrials ruled dull on a lack of support. British gilt-edged securities were steady at the lower level.—Reuter.

BERLIN BOURSE

Berlin, Jan. 27.

Although the share market to-day was as quiet as during the last three days, the tendency which was not uniform turned friendly, certain sections of the market, notably automobile shares being very active. Much consideration was devoted to the dividend prospects of the leading industrial undertakings, the estimates being based on the business known to have been done during the year. Siemens & Halske shares were agitated as a result of reports of the proceedings at the meeting of the board of directors. The prospects of the Mannesmann Werke were also under discussion. Some minings were better, notably Buderus and Harpener, some weaker as Mannesmann and United Steel. Potashes, German Dye Trust, Continental Rubber and AEG were all weaker.

In fixed interest securities Reichs Old Liquidation loan was unchanged. State loans were better but provincial loans weaker. Gold mortgage bonds hardened. In industrial bonds German Dye Trusts declined 5/8 to 130.

Callmoney stood at 2 7/8 to 3 1/8 per cent.—Trans-Ocean.

U.S. COMMODITIES

Thursday's Closing Quotations

New York, Jan. 27.

The cotton market early declined on lower cables, liquidation, hedging and the weakness of Wall Street advices. Later, the market partially advanced on foreign buying, but then again eased on renewed liquidation and realizing and closed barely steady, with quotations ranging from 4 to 7 points down.

Prices in the rubber market closed steady, with higher cables and some outside buying being offset by persistent liquidation. At the last call-over, losses of 1 to 8 points were recorded.
